Mayor Oakley salutes "Voc Ed Week"

Mayor William M. Oakley last week signs proclamation declaring Feb. 11-17 as "Vocational Education Week" in the city of Romulus. Looking over his shoulder is E. L. Sheffield, director of career and vocational education at Romulus Senior High School. Included in the special week's observance are: Feb. 14 - Career Opportunities Resource Center open house at the high school and student registration for March 21, 1979 Career Day; Feb. 15 - senior citizens visitation, with special activities in cosmetology, foods, and health occupations; and Feb. 16 - vocational programs open house (for additional information, call 941-2170).

High school center tunes people to jobs

"Eighty percent of American workers are doing jobs for which they are not suited," reports Herbert Greenberg, president of Marketing Survey and Research Corporation, in the August, 1978, issue of the Futurist.

"Many of these cases could have possibly been prevented if the person had been involved in some type of career planning," he stressed. This last statement is basically the need that the Romulus Career Opportunities Resource Center, (C.O.R.C.) staff is trying to fulfill at Romulus High School.

A major problem that people have in the work world is that of misemployment. People who are misemployed usually have done very little in planning for a career, studies show. These same people then stumble into jobs, accumulate seniority and fringe benefits, and don't want to take the risk of switching to a job for which they would have more aptitude and interest.

In an effort to eliminate this misemployment and promote job satisfaction, the Romulus C.O.R.C. has developed a career planning process for each student. The first phase of the process enable students to identify their aptitudes and interests through testing by the vocational counselor, Alan Wilkerson. The results of this aptitude and interest testing helps the student to develop realistic career goals and a realistic view of strengths and weaknesses.

The second phase of the career planning process deals with exploring numerous careers and gathering information about each of them. Mrs. Alberto Garrett, the media specialist, assembles an individualized career exploration activity for each student who enters the C.O.R.C. After all the numerous career exploration activities are completed in the career exploration phase, the student is then prepared to begin making decisions as to which career to pursue employment.

By the number of participants who have started the career planning process and the enthusiastic response to this process, it is evident that the Romulus C.O.R.C. has begun to make strides in promoting planning career employment rather than misemployment.

Police are baffled by theft of drums

Police investigation has failed to uncover what happened to a $2,000 set of drums which disappeared last week from the music room at Romulus High School.

Tony King, 15, owner of the drums and a student at the high school, told the Wayne County Sheriff's Department that they were missing when he went to get them about 6 p.m. Feb. 5.

The boy's family said Tony had saved every cent of the money to buy the 11-piece drum set from proceeds of a newspaper route he delivered.

"He's quite upset," a family member said. "He had to order the drum set special and he had to wait six months for them to arrive."

In addition to the drum set itself, the thief or thieves also stole the cases used to house the instruments.

The King family is offering a reward for information that will lead to the arrest of the individual or individuals responsible and the return of the drum set. Anyone with information is asked to call 941-8318. Names will be kept confidential, a family spokesman said.

Tony said he had last seen the drums about 10:45 Monday morning, according to Lt. Warren Woods, who heads the department's Youth Services Division.

Woods said the music teacher told them he had lost a ring of keys, two days earlier, one of which would gain entrance to one of two inner locked doors.

Principal Joel Carr said, however, that another key, not on the keyring, would be needed to gain entrance to the music room itself.

"We have a lot of suspicions," Carr commented, "but no one we can point a finger at."

Although one teacher noticed a lot of commotion in the vicinity of the music room on the Monday in question, he paid no heed because it was not unusual for musical instruments to be loaded and unloaded in that area during the day, Carr said. The set consists of about a dozen pieces.

"We've spent a lot of time working on the missing drums. I believe we're dealing with someone who's very intelligent," he said.

Hogan relocates

City residency rule met by employees

Patrick A. Hogan, 29, the city's new community development director, moved into the city two weeks ago. By doing so, he effectively put to rest a brief flare-up that occurred last spring regarding the city council's enforcement of the city residency requirement.

Under the city charter, all city employees not living in the city have one year from their date of employment to establish residency in Romulus.

However, prior to last year, the policy was not strictly enforced and several employees had exceeded the one year limit, according to Jay Young, public information officer.

In April, the city council informed the seven people (out of a total of 140 employees) still living outside the city that they had until Nov. 14, 1978, or one year from their date of hire, to move in.

Following that, three employees resigned and the remainder moved into the city.

In July, 1978, Hogan was hired and given a deadline of July 24, 1979 to comply with the residency requirement.

He immediately began searching for housing in Romulus, located a house for sale, sold his house in Lincoln Park, where he served as that city's assistant director of community development, and moved to Romulus six months ahead of the deadline.

Now, according to personnel director Sandy Spjut, in a recent memo to Mayor William Oakley, "To the best of our knowledge, all employees have complied with the residency requirement."

Hogan, the city's newest department head, graduated from Michigan State University in 1972 with a degree in business administration, and worked as a real estate agent before joining the City of Lincoln Park.

He is married and has one child, Daniel, age 18 months.

He is responsible for some 10 federal programs operated in the city and oversees a budget of nearly a million dollars in federal grant monies.

Several of the more visible results of his involvement include the Romulus Senior Citizens Drop In Center addition, Elmer Johnson Park improvements, the downtown revitalization project, a proposed fifth fire station, as well as the highly successful housing rehabilitation program and several others conducted out of the Romulus Help Center.

Mayor Oakley said, he was gratified that Hogan had met the residency deadline so early, a move he said was "indicative of our employees' desire to fully comply with city regulations."

He continued, "I'm proud this administration is performing its duties under the deadlines established by our charter, and hope to continue this precedent in the upcoming budget process."

Watch groups set meetings

Two separate neighborhood watch organizations are scheduling meetings for next week, following the recent interest expressed by residents of the Windcliff Subdivision for a "Watch" group to be organized there.

Police have credited the Meadows Subdivision Watch group with helping in the arrest of several robbers in the area.

For Windcliff residents, their first organizational meeting will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 20 at 7 p.m. at Cory School, 35200 Smith Rd.

For Meadows Subdivision residents, the Hale Creek Neighborhood Watch will hold its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. at Hale Creek School, 16200 Harrison Rd. on Wednesday, Feb. 21. The theme of the meeting will be "Neighborhood Security."

Next month's subject is "The Courts and You" and will feature a special guest appearance by 34th District Presiding Judge Henry Zaborowski. Residents are urged to attend both meetings.

If other residents of the city are interested in starting neighborhood watch groups in their neighborhoods, they may do so by calling the Romulus Public Information Office, at 941-0666, extension 20, or the Wayne County Sheriff's Department, Romulus Division, at 942-9660.

Night at Silverdome gets final planning

Final details of the special "Romulus Night at the Silverdome" planned for 8 p.m. Friday, April 6, 1979 will be worked out over the next few weeks.

Members of the City-School Committee and Detroit Piston promotion officials will work in the program, according to Jay Young, Romulus public information officer.

Among the more crucial points to be finalized, are: the sale and distribution of some 400 courtside seats reserved for Romulus residents and their guests, roundtrip transportation by a fleet of school buses from city hall to the Silverdome, and selection of the school and local talent to perform during the 10 minute half-time ceremony allotted to the city.

A Romulus High School musical group will be auditioning today, Wednesday before the committee.

Other musical, magical or entertainment groups or individuals who would like to try out for the half-time show are encouraged to call Jay Young, 941-0666 for an audition.

In addition to the entertainment aspect of the show, city and school officials will present Romulus resident and Piston starting guard John Long with a certificate of commendation for his accomplishments with the Detroit basketball club and the recognition that he has brought to his home town.

Tickets for the entire evening of family fun, including transportation, will cost $6 per person and will go on sale next Thursday, Feb. 15, at the Romulus School Board Office, 36540 Grant, and at the City Hall, 11111 Wayne Road. Other ticket sale locations will be announced later.

K & D helps keep industry clean

K & D Industrial Service, Inc., at 6470 Beverly Plaza in Romulus, for the last five years has served in the unique position of keeping area industrial plants and firms environmentally clean and trouble free. After industrial facilities are inspected by government agencies and told what they should do to comply with environmental regulations, they call in K & D to perform the specialized cleaning up and corrective tasks. According to Dave Billings, general manager, K & D employs 65 persons, some of whom have up to 12 years of experience in the environmental and ecological fields. Billings claims K & D is the largest total service environmental firm serving industry in the Western Wayne County area. (Photo by Tom Greenwood, ANP staff photographer.)

City golfer ice champ

A Romulus golfer slipped and slid over three inches of hard-packed snow and ice early this month to win the nine-hole sixth annual Frostbite Golf Open at Giant Oak Golf Course in Temperance, Mich.

Ed Gedert, 37, of 21315 Harriet, beat out 192 other winter enthusiasts by recording a 25 on the nine-hole links. For the record, putts were not allowed as the golf greens could not be cleaned for play.

Although Ed, the father of four girls aged nine to 16, had participated in the frostbite Open on other occasions, his victory and trophy Feb. 3 were the first in the winter classic.

According to CPAs

1978 income tax changes favor taxpayers

(This is the first in a series of articles prepared by the Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants offering advice on filing 1978 income tax returns.)

Although most of the tax law revisions adopted by Congress last year did not take effect until this year, taxpayers now getting ready to prepare their returns should be aware of the changes that apply to 1978 incomes, for most of those changes benefit the taxpayer.

Among persons affected are those who had capital gains or losses, are 55 or over and sold their homes after July 26, 1978, sold inherited assets that appreciated in value after 1976, made energy-saving modifications in their homes after April 19, 1978 and changed homes for employment reasons.

As for the other changes you may have heard about — the raising of personal exemptions, the ending of the general tax credit, the broadening of tax brackets to lessen the effects of inflation, and the increase in the earned-income credit to help low-income taxpayers — all those were indeed enacted, but they became effective only in 1979.

Of more immediate concern, until the law was changed, 50 percent of long-term capital gains had to be added to taxable income. Now, on most gains realized after Oct. 31, 1978, only 40 percent must be included.

Because of the complexity of changes in the treatment of capital gains, which make it necessary to compute gains and losses at two different rates, anyone affected is likely to need professional assistance with 1978 returns.

The same is true of those 55 or over who after July 26, 1978, sold a home at a profit after owning and occupying it for three of the past five years. This once-in-a-lifetime exemption from capital gains tax on the first $100,000 of profit could be the biggest tax break most persons are ever likely to receive, so it should not be treated casually.

A change adopted earlier, but which became effective in 1978, determines the length of time an asset must have been held in order to qualify for a long-term gain or loss. It is now a full year. Another earlier change provides that in 1978 a taxpayer can offset up to $3,000 of net capital losses against ordinary income. In 1977 the maximum was $2,000.

Anyone sharing in an estate that was settled in the past couple of years also may need professional help. The Tax Reform Act of 1976 provided for new treatment of assets inherited and sold after 1976. But Congress now has moved the start-up date for those changes back to 1980. So anyone who received a post-1976 legacy should check; they may have paid taxes on it that now are refundable.

If you improved the insulation in your home on or after April 20, 1977, or added storm windows or other fuel-saving devices, you may be eligible for a credit of 15 percent of what you spent, up to a total credit of $300. If you put in solar heating or equipment utilizing renewable sources of energy, the credit can be even bigger.

The energy-conservation and renewable energy credits apply only to principal places of residence, not vacation homes. The energy-conservation credits do not apply to new homes, but the renewable energy credits may apply to new homes.

It has long been true that if you make a profit on a home sale you can defer the capital gain tax, if within 18 months you reinvest in another home costing at least as much. It also has long been true that this 'rollover' could be used no more than once every year and a half. Effective in 1978, however, is the change of homes is employment connected, as in a change of your place of employment, you can defer the capital gain tax even, if two sales occur within 18 months.

Commissioners to oppose EPA sewage disposal plan

Citing virtually unanimous community agreement, the Wayne County Board of Commissioners is opposing a sewage disposal plan by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) in favor of one from their own public works advisors that—beginning under the County Road Commission—has been 20 years in the making.

In contrast, according to the Chairman of the County Department of Public Works, the federal plan has "very little, if any" public support. Also, he said, the federal plan is a modified version of the county plan based on a study the EPA made available only last year.

After the board voted down the EPA proposal on Feb. 1, Board Chairman Richard E. Manning praised the department of Public Works for the unity negotiated among communities shown in their endorsement of the county plan.

The county plan is approved by 20 of the 22 communities directly involved.

"The two communities in question are just uncommitted, not against, and the overwhelming majority, 15 communities in the group, have signed agreements to share design costs of the system," Manning said. He commended former county commissioners Royce E. Smith and Chester Wozniak for the "vital leadership they have given to out-county communities. Smith and Wozniak are the respective managing director and assistant managing director of the department, which is responsible for sewer and water systems, garbage disposal, and all major new construction projects in the county.

"Obviously, the provision for adequate sewage treatment is a necessary foundation for important growth in the western suburban area, not only for housing but also for commercial and industrial strength, and our two former colleagues are doing a great job," Manning continued.

Manning said that "this great example of community cooperation is comforting evidence" supporting the board's decision last year to remove public works functions from the County Road Commission and establish the separate county department under direct jurisdiction of the Board of Commissioners.

The EPA has been reluctant to approve the county plan because it wants more documentation on the need for the sewer to extend as far north as proposed. A study to provide this and other information the EPA requests would take three years and cost what the county cannot afford.

Close to $1 million already has been spent studying the plan—about $200,000 from the county and about $600,000 from the EPA.

The 15 communities that have signed contracts regarding the county plan are Commerce and Novi townships in Oakland County, the Wayne County townships of Northville, Plymouth, Canton, Van Buren, Sumpter, Huron and Brownstown, and the cities of Northville, Romulus, Flat Rock, Rockwood, Gibraltar and Woodhaven.

Belleville and Plymouth have endorsed the system but have not signed contracts because they in part consider their present sewage plants adequate. Others which have endorsed but have not signed contracts are Trenton, Walled Lake and South Rockwood. Wolverine and White Lake are the only two of the 22 communities directly involved which are uncommitted.

PCHA wants SMS

Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA), with headquarters at 33101 Ann Arbor, Wayne, has asked the state to approve development of a centralized electronic data processing system.

At an estimated cost of $1,325,000, the proposed Share Medical Systems (SMS) would serve five hospitals within the authority. The system is now being planned by Arthur Young and Company to cover both financial and patient care systems.

If approved, the system would be operational in July 1980.

In keeping with federal regulations requiring state approval prior to capital expenditure, PCHA has applied for a Certificate of Need. The application is on file with the Michigan Department of Public Health, division of Health Facility Planning and Construction.

Power Squadron hosts boat class

The Ann Arbor Power Squadron will offer a free course in basic boating, beginning next Wednesday.

Included in the program will be seamanship, small boat handling, equipment, government regulations, navigation, mariner's compass and charting.

The classes will be held in Room C-117 of Ann Arbor Pioneer High School.

The registration and meeting times both are from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. Feb. 21. The course is open to both men and women, 12 years of age and older. Ownership of a boat is not a requirement.

The course manual costs $5, and a final examination will be given at the conclusion of the 12-week course.

For further information call course chairman Mel Dabish at 668-8677.

In Brief

Female deputy to speak

A female deputy of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department will address the Feb. 22 meeting of the Romulus Business and Professional Women's Association at the Romulus

Chamber of Commerce office, 10000 S. Wayne Rd. The meeting, scheduled to begin at 7 p.m., will feature a potluck salad buffet.

Softball leagues formed

The Romulus Recreation Department is organizing men's and women's softball leagues for the 1979 season. Any teams or individuals interested in participating should contact the Recreation Department at 941-0666 extension 67 for details. A meeting for the managers of the men's league will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 14 at 7 p.m. The meeting for the women's league managers will be held on Wednesday, Feb. 21, also at 7 p.m. Both meetings will be held at the Recreation Office, 36515 Bibbins St.

Boating class offered

Ann Arbor Power Squadron will offer a free course in basic boating beginning Wednesday, Feb. 21, 1979. Included in the program are: seamanship, small boat handling, equipment, government regulations, navigation, marines compass and charting.

Classes will be held in the Ann Arbor Pioneer High School, West Cafeteria, Room C-117, Ann Arbor, Mi.

Registration and meeting time is 7:30-9:30 p.m. Course is open to both men and women, 12 years of age or older. Ownership of a boat is not required.

Course manual is $5 per student. There will be a final examination at the end of the 12 week session.

For further information, call course chairman, Mel Dabish, (313) 668-8677.

Gwendolyn Chevalier succumbs to illness

Mrs. Gwendolyn M. Chevalier, of 6885 S. Merriman Rd., Romulus, died Feb. 6 at an area hospital following a long illness. She was 83 years of age.

Mrs. Chevalier was the mother of Miss Geraldine M. Chevalier, of the same address, who has been employed at Romulus City Hall for the last 11 years, as an office technician. She is in charge of in-house and all other mailing, performs inventory control and takes care of the stock room.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at the Forshee Funeral Home, Prescott, Mich., with the Rev. D. Scharf officiating. Burial was in the Richland Cemetery, Prescott, Mich.

There are no other survivors.

City gives advice on snow removal

With the advent of the snow season, the Romulus Department of Public Works would like to advise residents of city snow removal policies.

On March 14, 1978, the Romulus City Council adopted a weather emergency ordinance which states that it shall be unlawful to park any motor vehicle or trailer on any public street or highway in the city after a snowfall of six inches or more.

In order to efficiently plow City streets, trucks must have a clear path. Residents are urged to pull vehicles into the driveway or yard when it begins to snow.

Subdivision streets will not be salted except at intersections. Experience has shown that after a street is salted, cars throw the slush up, into yards and it kills the grass, plus, the salt deteriorates the concrete and asphalt roads due to the thawing and freezing process.

In the interest of safety, all main roads and bus routes are plowed and salted first. After these roads are completed, the equipment is sent into subdivisions. In the process of plowing the streets, it is impossible to lift the blade at every driveway, so residents should wait to clean the end of driveways until after the snowplow has passed.

The sidewalk that borders a resident's property is their responsibility to keep clean. Disabled citizens or senior citizens can ask the Romulus HELP Center to assist them in removing the snow from their sidewalks and driveway. Their telephone number is 941-7970.

Classes set for adults

Have you ever wanted to disco, belly dance or learn to fix your car? How about volleyball, dog obedience or slimastics? These and many other activities will be offered by Romulus Adult Education starting last week.

Other classes include small engine repair, cake decorating, stained glassware, pottery, firstaid, sewing, typing and office skills. Small fees, usually $1-2 a week, are charged to cover costs of the eight-week classes and all area residents (16 years of age and over) are invited to attend. A complete schedule of adult activities will be mailed to Romulus homes.

Adults (18 and over) who sign up are eligible to take a free G.E.D. test as well as free classes if they have yet to finish high school. Further information about both programs is available by calling 941-0610.

Schools pick Pat Gresock for job placement position

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Going out into the world to look for a job is a very trying experience for many people.

That's why Romulus High School is doing more and more to train and place young men and women in today's highly competitive job market.

Their latest move is the addition of Mrs. Pat Gresock as Job Placement Specialist to help students in the age group of 16-21 make the transition from school to work.

"We're very happy to have Pat join our placement team," said Alice Fugedi, job placement coordinator, in announcing the addition to the staff.

The Placement Program Specialist position is funded through a Comprehensive Employment Training Act (CETA) Title III grant that is scheduled to expire in September. It is part of an overall $150,000 CETA grant which Romulus High School received to create the Career Opportunities Resource Center (CORC).

"Pat will be making contacts with employers and identifying the jobs," Mrs. Fugedi explained. "I'll be working with the graduates and the students on employability skills, training and screening them."

Al Wilkerson, vocational counselor, does the initial testing to see what the youth's skills and abilities are. Working together, the staff of CORC will try to match the students to the jobs they are best suited to perform.

"I'm very excited about the possibilities of this new opportunity to help students find employment they feel is meaningful as well as providing a living," said Mrs. Gresock.

The new job placement specialist has been with Romulus Community Schools for seven years, the past three in the Career and Vocational Education office. Pat also has a background in the field of sales and promotion.

She was very successful in the vocational education program and was instrumental in implementing new project ideas and seeing they were carried out.

While contacting employers in the community for job development, Mrs. Gresock will also identify job sites where a client can shadow a volunteer worker as daily tasks are performed. These shadowing experiences help the client determine what training is needed and if this career and employee are compatible.

"Shadowing" is simply the term used to describe the follow-up of students from school to job to make sure they are trained and suitable for that type of employment.

After a client has completed the career development procedure of self awareness, career exploration and decision making, the placement program offers a next step with full or part-time employment in a field that matches a student's skills and interests.

Mrs. Fugedi assists the client in filling out applications, practicing interviewing and developing resumes and letters of application. These employability skills are necessary now and will be useful to the client throughout his career.

After placement on a job, 30 and 90-day follow ups either by phone or in person determine whether the client is satisfied with the decisions that he has made. Further help is available through the CORC for job retention and continued career development, the CORC officials pointed out.

The Vocational Education Departments of Van Buren Public Schools and Romulus Community Schools have joined together in also providing a part-time Job Placement Service for Belleville High School graduates.

Mrs. Fugedi will be in the new media center library in Belleville High School on Mondays from 12 to 3 p.m. and Tuesdays from 7:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Young adults who have left school prior to graduation, as well as graduates are encouraged to take advantage of this service.

Employers and those seeking work in the Belleville area who wish to use this service should call 941-0800, Monday through Friday between 8 a.m. and 3:30 p.m.

Black history on parade

Hale Creek School has Afro exhibit

Interesting things are happening at Hale Creek School in Romulus as teachers and students become involved in Black History week observance.

Mrs. Geraldine Croft, second grade teacher at Hale Creek, has prepared several exhibits relating to the Afro-American theme. The exhibit in the hall display case features black inventions, books, recordings and articles pertaining to black culture. It also contains jewelry and other articles from Africa. Items of special interest are the African carvings of ebony, mahogany and ivory. Many of these items were loaned to the school by Mrs. Judith Kraushaar.

In the school library is an exhibit entitled, "A Salute to the Darker Brother". This exhibit highlights black music and poetry on tape, poster information of outstanding Afro-Americans, several interesting books and two recordings found in Hale Creek School's library. Also displayed are African postcards, a list of inventions by black Americans, small booklets on literary and cultural achievements. The main attraction is the antique saddle and the handwoven basket from Africa.

On Monday, Feb. 19, 1979, the mobile unit of the Afro-American Museum will visit the Hale Creek School. Students will tour the mobile museum with the help of a guide who will answer questions about the various exhibits. Information about the Afro-American Museum will also be available to students.

Students win name contest

Since the Career Opportunities Resource Center (C.O.R.C.) opened at Romulus High School, it has needed a logogram to identify the center. The reading specialist, Jill Fleming, organized a logogram contest for the student body which was won by Linda Franklin, a senior in Gary Banas' graphic arts class. Linda received a $10 gift certificate to Eagle Shack, the school store. Second place was awarded to John Wanza, a junior who is also in Banas' graphic arts class. John received various school supplies from the Eagle Shack. The first place logogram will be used on the C.O.R.C.'s letterheads, forms and advertisements. The second place logogram will be used to advertise C.O.R.C.'s services in the Romulus Roman.

Romulus collegian seeks '79 national cheerleading honor

Although he doesn't play on Michigan State University's nationally ranked football or basketball teams, Tim Abler of Romulus still belongs to a top-rated MSU squad.

Abler is a member of the MSU varsity cheerleaders, selected as one of the five finalist teams in the National Collegiate Cheerleading Championships.

The final competition, sponsored by the International Cheerleading Foundation, will be held in Provo, Utah, and will be televised in a 90-minute special on CBS April 16, with hosts Suzanne Somers, George Burns, and Donnie and Marie Osmond.

Competing with MSU for top honors are Mississippi State, North Carolina, Southern California and Tulsa.

The 16 Spartan cheerleaders will perform a five-minute program that includes pyramids, cheers, the MSU fight song, dances and pom-pom routines. The competition will be judged by a panel of cheerleading authorities, athletes and celebrities, and the winner, along with the runners-up, will receive scholarships and honors.

In reaching the final five, the Spartans were judged on versatility, performance overview, rapport with music, uniqueness of novelty material, cheer routines, personality-smiles, enthusiasm, projection and neatness and general appearance.

Abler, a sophomore focusing on pre-law, is a co-captain of the Spartan cheerleading squad. The 1973 graduate of Taylor Kennedy High School is a member of the MSU Varsity Club, the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and the Block and Bridle Club.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Abler Jr. of Pennsylvania Road, Romulus.

Deadline nears on merit medal

Only two weeks remain for submitting nominations for Congressman William D. Ford's Medal of Merit for Outstanding Youth.

The deadline for nominations is March 1.

The awards are available to only residents of the Congressman's 15th Congressional District. Awards will be presented in two categories — 14 through 18 years or still in high school and 18 through 22 years and out of high school.

The accomplishments of the young people nominated should be both outstanding and meaningful and should not be based primarily on scholarship, athletic ability or organizational membership. They also should not be something for which the nominee has received financial payment.

The nomination must include the name, address, telephone number, date of birth and age category of the nominee, as well as school or employment, activities, such as community, church, school and others, and his or her parents' names.

The person making the nomination also should include a brief statement as to why he or she thinks the nominee is deserving of the award and sign the form, including his or her address and telephone number.

Nomination forms are available from the Congressman's District Office, located in the Post Office Building on Newberry Street in Wayne, or from Patricia Cadden of the Romulus Chamber of Commerce. Ms. Cadden also can provide further information on the awards and can be reached at 941-5710 or 941-5711.

Nominations should be sent to Congressman William D. Ford, Outstanding Youth Award, Post Office Building, Wayne 48184.

Eye-Bank checks donors

Tragedies, such as the deaths of two recent eye tissue transplant recipients in Idaho and New York would be virtually impossible with techniques now in use in the State of Michigan.

The two deaths were due to rabies (in Idaho) and Jakob Creutzfeldt disease, a rare neurological disorder (in New York City), and are believed to have occurred because of transmission of the disease through donated corneal eye tissue.

In order to eliminate any possibility of the transfer of the disease from donor to the recipient, the Michigan Eye-Bank has — for the past three years — carefully screened the records of donors for any known or suspected communicable disease which might be transferred to the recipient.

The two Michigan Eye-Bank laboratories, one at the University of Michigan and the other at Wayne State University, are responsible for the examination, processing and redistribution of tissue for corneal transplantation.

Corneal tissue never is used for transplantation if the donor suffered from a condition, such as blood poisoning, virus-related disease or infection, syphilis or acute leukemia.

Other factors that may result in the eye tissue being judged unsuitable for transplantation include unknown cause of death, fever of unknown origin, jaundice, excessive time from the donor's death to removal of the eye tissue and extended time on life support systems prior to the donor's death.

Further information on the Eye-Bank and its programs can be obtained by calling 764-3262 or 577-1329.

Tim Abler may not be on Michigan State University's nationally known football or basketball squads, but he does belong to one that's going for national honors on April 16. Abler, along with Cathy Lilly of Taylor and other members of the MSU varsity cheerleading squad, will be competing for top spot in the National Collegiate Cheerleading Championships. The squad is one of five selected for the final competition, to be held in Provo, Utah. The 16 Spartan cheerleaders will perform a 5-minute routine during the judging.

American Indian crafts to be viewed

"Arts and Crafts of the American Indian" will be featured in a family nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock at 2 p.m. Feb. 25.

Edward Fuller of Dundee, Mich., will use more than 90 authentic Indian craft items to provide a glimpse of the artistic talents and ingenuity of the Indian. Included will be war bonnets, clothing, bead work, tools, musical instruments, weapons, games and many others.

Youngsters from the audience often are chosen to model a few of Fuller's clothing items. The demonstration of a blow gun South America will highlight the program.

The program is free, however, vehicle entry permits — $7 annually regular, $2 daily and $2 senior citizens — are required.

Weathering winter aired "Weathering the Winter" will be the subject of a family nature program to be presented at the nature center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock at 2 p.m. Sunday.

Park naturalist Glenn Dent will illustrate through slides and animal specimens many of nature's methods for surviving the rigors of winter in Michigan. The usual daily problems of food, water, warmth and shelter are magnified by extended periods of cold weather. The fascinating ways in which wildlife meet these challenges will be explained during the program.

The program is free, however, vehicle entry permits — $2 daily and senior citizens or $7 annual regular — are required.

ARE YOU AWARE

A Tree and its Fruits (NIV)

MATTHEW 7:16—By their fruits you will recognize them. Do people pick grapes from thorn bushes, or figs from thistles? 7:17—Likewise every good tree bears good fruit, but a bad tree bears bad fruit. 7:18—A good tree cannot bear bad fruit. 7:19—Every tree that does not bear good fruit is cut down and thrown into the fire. 7:20—Thus, by their fruit you will recognize them. 7:21—Not everyone who says to me, "Lord, Lord" will enter the Kingdom of Heaven, but only he who does the will of my father who is in Heaven.

"Our actions, our deeds are the fruit of our life. How do our neighbors, our children, or our friends see us?"

The Wise and the Foolish Builders

MATTHEW 7:24—Therefore everyone who hears these words of mine and puts them into practice is like a wise man who built his house on the rock. 7:25—The rain came down, the streams rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house, yet it did not fall, because it had its foundation on the rock. 7:26—But everyone who hears these words of mine and does not put them into practice is like a foolish man who built his house on sand. 7:27—The rain came down, the stream rose, and the winds blew and beat against that house, and it fell with a great crash.

"Dear friends, these verses are the words of the Christ himself, comparing people to fruit bearing trees and to builders. The Word of God contains all the instructions necessary for cultivating good fruit, and complete instructions for planning your spiritual house, then a complete material list, so you may begin actual construction. How about it, dig in! Without the physical labor our house will die in the planning stages, and then no one will ever find any comfort in the house we planned to build."

Seminar to deal with death, dying

Have you ever felt that you don't know what to say to someone who is dying? Do you find yourself avoiding one of your friends who recently developed cancer?

The Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service is sponsoring an evening seminar to make it easier for people to talk about dying.

Magdalene Jaekel, who teaches classes on death and dying, will be conducting the evening seminar — "Communicating with the Terminally Ill" — from 7:30 to 10 p.m. Feb. 22 at the First Presbyterian Church of Dearborn, 600 N. Brady St.

There is a $1 admission fee, and reservations are requested. They can be made by calling 721-6565 or 563-2950.

"Death is like going from one room to the next," Ms. Jaekel said. "It's not just a void; it is changing your surroundings. We want to help people understand that dying is a part of living."

"If we can think of death without fear, we can live a fuller life."

The seminar is being coordinated by the Family Living Unit of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, and extension of Michigan State University.

New Boston Huron cagers outdistance Carlson, 58-50

"We've been doing this most of the year, playing better in the second half than the first," said Coach Gene Smith following New Boston Huron's come-from-behind 58-50 victory over Carlson.

"I don't know what it is, but we just can't get started," Smith offered.

Scoring a modest six points in eight minutes and trailing by seven after the first period, Huron showed some life in the second quarter thanks to center Randy Pichan who tossed in eight of his total 10 points to spark the Chiefs.

Although behind 27-22 at the half and 44-35 for three periods, Huron outscored their conference rivals 23-6 in the finale to chalk up their sixth win in 10 league games.

The 6-4 won-lost ratio gives Huron a two-way tie for third with Airport, a team they'll settle with on Friday.

"With first and second out of reach," said Smith, "our goal is to finish in third."

Four Huron players ended up in double figures against Carlson with Kermit Burke's 16 points standing up as the team's best. Rick Stoklosa, who sank four-of-four from the field in the third period, wound up with 12 points while the two Pichans — Randy and Jerry — split 10 points each.

Monroe Catholic Central shattered Huron's dreams of finishing higher in the standings earlier in the week when CC won a 76-59 decision from the Chiefs.

Randy Pichan had 16 points and Stoklosa added 14 with Greg Smith scoring 12 for the losers.

'78 agriculture yearbook offered

The 1978 Agriculture Yearbook now is available to residents of the 15th Congressional District. Entitled, "Living on a Few Acres", the book is designed for those who are interested in country living on a small scale.

The yearbook also is a practical guide for those who now are living on a few acres, or those who are thinking about it. According to Congressman William D. Ford of the 15th District, the yearbook "is not aimed at 'real' farmers who gain their principal income from land, but those who have jobs, pensions or some other source of income."

The book outlines both the advantages and disadvantages of country living and gives examples based on actual experiences. It covers such topics as gardening, orchards, fishing ponds and gives practical advice on such endeavors as raising chickens, rabbits and bees; growing Christmas trees; selling earthworms and operating vacation farms.

The supply of yearbooks are limited. Copies can be obtained by writing Congressman Ford, 2368 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Aids terminally ill

PCHA joins Hospice Inc.

The Peoples Community Hospital Authority's Board of Directors has adopted a resolution to become a member of the Southeastern Michigan Hospice Inc.

Representing the PCHA as a member of the hospice will be Frederick J. Barten, director of planning-service programs.

According to John J. Freysinger, PCHA executive director, the hospice "is an organization staffed with personnel who are experts in the sensitive art of empathy and who are well qualified to assist the terminally ill and their families through the final stages of an illness."

Relatively new this to section of the country, hospices have been used extensively throughout the world. Freysinger added that the hospice concept now is receiving serious attention and support from the federal government and from other health agencies.

The hospice does not necessarily function within the hospital milieu, Freysinger said, an hence may represent a sensitive service being delivered at a minimal cost to the PCHA.

The Board of Directors at its regular monthly meeting also approved an agreement with the Saline Community Hospital, under which PCHA will service the former's laundry needs up to 300,000 clean weight pounds per year delivered to that hospital.

The Saline hospital does not have its own laundry facility, and the firm it had been serviced by no longer meets the hospital's requirements.

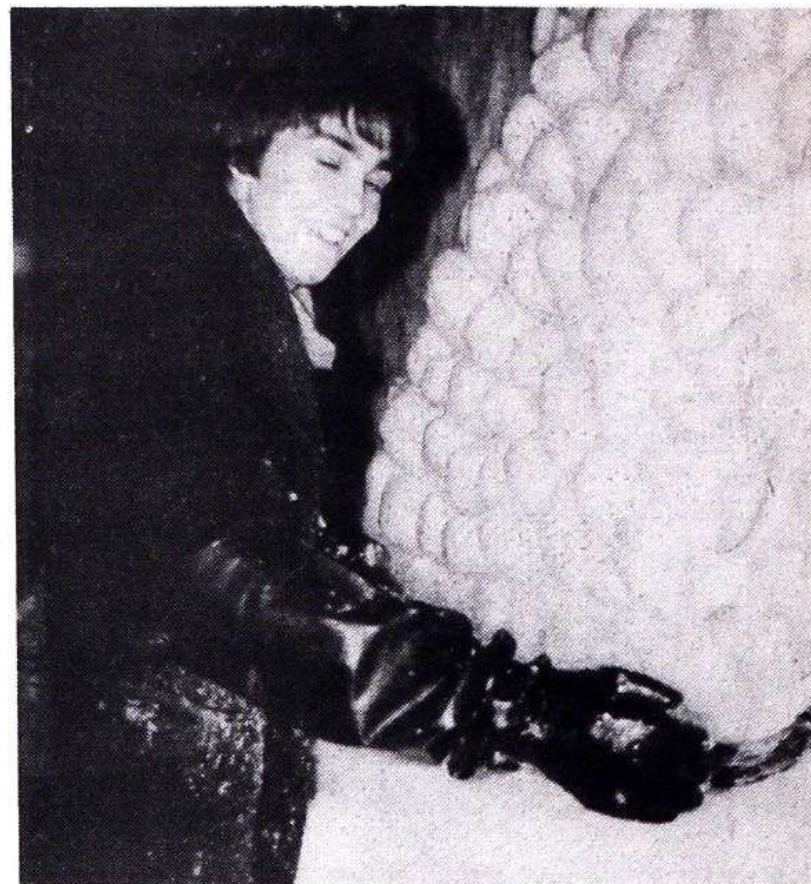

According to Barten, PCHA has the capability of performing the task and it would maximize "PCHA's capital investment in its laundry building, which is in place on the same campus at Annapolis Hospital" in Wayne.

Other agreements reached between the PCHA and area college and universities were with the University of Detroit School of Nursing for classroom facilities at Heritage Hospital in Taylor; a City of Detroit-sponsored Manpower Development Training Act program for licensed practical nurses at Annapolis Hospital in Wayne; and with Washtenaw Community College to operate a clinical portion of its Emergency Medical Technician Program at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti.

At the board's meeting this month — Feb. 22 — the annual election for Board of Directors' officers will be held. A nominating committee, appointed by board chairman Donald Pizzimenti, includes Patrick J. Norton, member at-large from Wayne; Isadore Mulias, member from Tonten; and Francis Schmitt, DDS, from Garden City.

Positions to be filled at the meeting will be chairman, vice-chairman, secretary, treasurer, the three-member Executive Committee, the 10-member Medical Advisory Committee, comprised of staff physicians, and two members at-large.

PCHA operates Annapolis Hospital in Wayne, Seaway Hospital in Trenton, Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Heritage Hospital in Taylor and Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park.

Cold work

Belleville senior Thomas Broskea worked on an ice fireplace in the fireplace in the statue competition of Michigan Technological University's 1979 Winter Carnival. Broskea, a mechanical engineering major at MTU, worked on the statue, entitled "Come Up and Snow Me Sometime", during the last night of construction before judging. Raw materials for statues was abundant this year, because the area around Houghton and Hancock has received more than 260 inches of snow this winter.

Extension Service seminar surveys American family

The American family is undergoing stress because of changing roles and relationships.

And to help equip people with skills to make effective life adjustments an all-day seminar is being sponsored by Family Living Education of the Michigan State University Extension Service and the Dearborn branch of the American Association of University Women.

The March 16 seminar will begin with registration at 8:30 a.m. at the First Presbyterian Church, 600 N. Brady, Dearborn. There is a $3.50 registration fee. Advance registration is requested and can be completed by contacting the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service at 721-6565 or 563-2950.

Babysitting will be available at the Dearborn Youth Center and can be called by contacting AAUW volunteer Carole Wells at 563-1455. The fee is $2 per child.

Concurrent presentations designed to focus on relationships will feature educators and specialists in areas relating to effective communications, self-awareness, male-female relationships and the role of money, sex, values and self concept in relationships.

Emphasizing 1979 as the "Year of the Child", keynote speaker Dayton Gnaou, family counselor and co-founder of the Growth Center Inc., will present "The Child in the Adult", focusing on the need for affirming, respecting and nurturing that child within all of us.

Dr. Paul F. Pearsall, chief of the Problems of Daily Living Clinic at Sinai Hospital, will discuss "Sexual Options in the Era of Choice; Sexuality and the Life Cycle".

In a presentation, entitled, "Money and Relationships", Brenda Schneider, director of consumer and urban affairs of Manufacturers National Bank Corp. and president of Consumer Educators of Michigan, will examine the role values play in the handling of family finances.

Parenting education specialist and Michigan State University Extension home economist Kathleen Bufton will speak on "Reducing Stress through Effective Communications" and share tips and techniques for "Surviving with a Teen-Ager in the Home."

Participants may choose from such other topics as the Changing roles of Women in the Contemporary American Family, Financial Survival Skills for Women, Handling Hostility, Coping as a Single Parent, the Importance of Self Concept in Growing Old, Alternatives for Child Care Today, Parenting Skills for the Early Years and a Systematic Approach to Career Planning.

Family Living Education is a program unit of the Wayne County Cooperative Extension Service, an extension of Michigan State University. Cooperative Extension Service programs are open to all persons without regard to race, sex, color or creed.

Township builders face regulations

In the past, it was not unusual for a builder to guarantee the quality of his work.

But today, according to some officials in the business, the shortage of skilled, trained workers has compromised the quality of even the most basic components of new homes.

Canton Township officials would like to return to the 'good old days,' and hope to motivate builders to either 'shape up or ship out.'

The shape-up plan discussed Monday night by the township board, requires that builders must respond to 95 percent of the homeowners' complaints on file with the township within a 30-day period.

Builders are supposed to report back to the township board meeting on Tuesday, March 5th at 7 p.m., where homeowners are also invited to attend.

There the township will re-evaluate the builders most recent performance, and if the builders don't meet the township's expectations, action will be taken, said Supervisor Noel Culbert.

The action to be taken, according to Culbert is:

—initiate a local ordinance requiring builders to bond each home to be built.

—adopt a license for builders that would enable the township to suspend or revoke a builder's license if found guilty of gross incompetency or fraud.

—adopt an ordinance that would force a builder to complete the home construction by a certain specified date or be punished by a fine and a jail sentence.

"I think what is really going to frighten the builder into taking action on repairs and finishing homes is the fear of being bonded," said Culbert.

"That's the most drastic measure we could take. Not many builders can afford to have each $70,000 home cash bonded," he added.

The supervisor also said that bonding is the best way to guarantee that a home will be completed on time and repairs rendered when necessary.

Reacting to Culbert's ultimatum Dave Ducharme, owner and president of Pilch and West Building Company said that he was "shaken and intimidated" by the board's possible action and that he thought it unfair and unjust to punish all builders for a few who may be unscrupulous.

"I do not want to be boxed into a legislative hole... me an honest businessman... because of some bad builders. Why don't you cut off building permits to the bad builders instead of penalizing all of us," suggested Ducharme.

But Trustee Robert Greenstein, who as former township supervisor had his share of run-ins with builders, said: "It is up to you and your cohorts (fellow builders) to control the bad mess, and if you can't do it we will."

"Sure you'd be glad to have us cut off other builders permits," said Greenstein, "and then have them take us to court and cost the citizens thousands of tax dollars to pay for the township being sued. Well we're not going to let that happen."

Other suggestions by homeowners and department heads of the township ranged from having the building inspector carry a check list so they don't "miss" major structural defects, to raising the inspection fee charged to the builder to help pay for more qualified, and experienced inspectors.

The group of homeowners in attendance—some faces familiar others not—said that buying a home is not like buying a toaster or a stereo set.

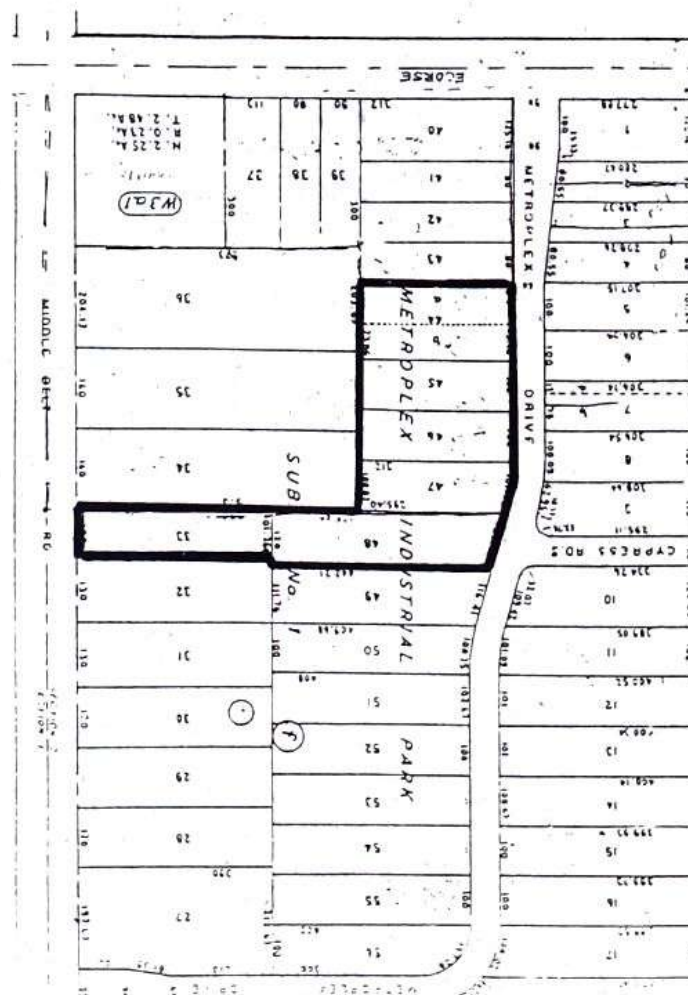

A home is a major investment, and most complained that when expending $70,000 on a brand new home they would at least like to know that it is "safe" to occupy.

Things that matter

By GEORGER. PLAGENZ
United Features Syndicate

All married couples have their fights. They may even occur occasionally on Sunday mornings when everybody in the family is rushing to get to church on time.

But what if the harried husband and wife are both ministers who must, shortly afterward, get up in the chancel together and not only put on a happy face for their congregations for an hour, but defer sweetly to one another while conducting the service?

Do the tensions and irritations of married life show beneath that harmonious exterior?

"Every once in a while we get annoyed with each other," says the Rev. Edward Carey, who is co-pastor with his wife, Jansje (Jan), at the Church of the Master (Baptist) in Cleveland Heights, Ohio. "When that happens, it may be difficult to get much work done that day."

But on Sunday mornings, says Carey, "we are both so keyed up for the service that we overlook the little vexations at home."

He adds, with a smile: "We save our fights for Sunday afternoon, after church is over."

The Careys, who have been co-pastors at the Church of the Master since September 1976, are breaking up — as team ministers, not as husband and wife.

Jan is taking a post at Colgate-Rochester Divinity School in Rochester, N.Y., as associate director of placement and alumni relations.

Ed will stay home during the day and be housefather, looking after the couple's two children — Andrew 6, and Anna, 1 — until he returns to school in the fall (at the University of Rochester) to work on his Ph.D.

The Careys are among 750 "clergy couples" in the United States, of whom about 100 are in the United Church of Christ and 60 in the United Presbyterian church.

But there are only a few dozen clergy couples who work as team ministers (or co-pastors) in the same church. Others may serve in staff positions in the same church or in separate churches, or they may work in institutions (like hospitals). Sometimes one may work while the other studies or is unemployed.

The Careys, who are both 31, feel that their 2½ year co-pastorate at the 300-member church has been successful.

Initially, says Jan, being co-pastors "felt like too much church" to both of them. It occupied most of their time — at work and at home. Then they decided they would "do very little talking about church" at home. That made things better.

Why did they decide to leave the Church of the Master? When the offer came from Colgate-Rochester, Jan says, the prospect of a more orderly life and a 9-to-5 job appealed to her.

And her husband? What did he think about giving up his job and becoming unemployed so his wife could take a job in another city?

"I accepted the job only with Ed's prompting," she says. "If he had felt we should stay, we would have stayed."

Other clergy couples have decided against team ministries for themselves. They are concerned about becoming competitive with each other and losing their identities. ("We didn't want to become ecclesiastical Siamese twins," says one couple.)

They prefer the stimulation that comes from having different jobs and different colleagues.

Others have tried a shared ministry and have given it up.

"We found we were discussing our jobs while washing dishes and even when we went to bed," says one clergy couple.

Another problem facing clergy couples is the necessity of finding jobs in close geographical proximity.

Very often this means the man may have to defer to his wife's employment opportunities because positions for women in the ministry are much more limited.

But despite the problems, the number of clergy couples is growing — and they are slowly gaining acceptance.

Scott completes Air Force basic training

Airman Lawrence L. Scott, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Scott of Dexter, Romulus, has graduated from Air Force basic training at Lackland Air Force Base, Tex.

The airman is remaining at Lackland for specialized training in the security police field. During his basic training, he studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received specialized instruction in human relations.

Completion of that training earned him credits towards an associate of applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

Airman Scott is a 1977 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Also in the armed forces: Marine Pvt. Franklin L. Michaux, the son of William and Louise Scott of Ecorse Road, Romulus, has reported for duty at the Second Force Service Support Group at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune, N.C.

A 1978 graduate of Romulus Senior High School, he joined the Marine Corps in September 1978.

An official at Sheppard Air Force

Base, Tex., has announced the graduation of Airman William S. Wensko from the U.S. Air Force's computer operator course conducted by the Air Training Command.

Airman Wensko, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Wensko of Walnut Drive, Romulus, now is trained to operate and maintain electronic data processing machines, and will serve at Howard Air Force Base, C.Z. Completion of the course earned him credits towards an associate in applied science degree through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman is a 1978 graduate of Romulus Senior High School.

Navy Ensign Steven D. James, the son of Loretta James of Carmell, Belleville, has reported for duty at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Tex.

A 1977 graduate of Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti, with a bachelor of science degree, he joined the Navy in September 1978.

Allen Park scores easy victory over problem-plagued BHS Tigers

It just isn't Belleville's year in basketball.

Allen Park was the latest to take advantage of the Tigers' problems and the Jaguars avenged an earlier loss by rolling to a 72-54 victory over their Suburban 8 Conference rivals.

Belleville Coach Tom Niemi missed the game. His mother passed away earlier in the week and the Niemi family traveled North to attend the funeral.

Replacing Niemi on the bench was assistant Coach Dave Medley who labeled the Allen Park game "as one of our poorest shooting nights of the season."

Belleville fell behind 22-9 after the first period but recovered in time to make it look like a game when Earl Watson, the 6-6 sophomore center, led a balanced scoring attack that lifted the Tigers to within four of catching up (37-33) at halftime.

But hitting a horrendous two of 17 shots from the field in the third period nailed the Tigers with their fifth league loss in nine starts.

The Parkers outscored Belleville 19-4 in that third period and after that it was only a matter of time. Herb Burrus and Scott Straight joined Watson in the double figure scoring column. Burrus and Straight each had 11, while Watson carded a team high 14 points.

Gary Wilkie, son of Allen Park Coach Dennis Wilkie, sank a game high 25 points and center Dave McCormack added 16.

For 2½ periods Belleville stayed abreast with Ann Arbor Huron, one of the top teams in the state, but when the shooting was all over the Tigers had digested an 85-55 non-league loss.

Belleville wasted an outstanding performance from their guard,

Burrus, who scored 23 points and Watson contributed 12. But Huron's Eric Santifer, a hard-driving forward, came up with 27 points, though playing

MUSICAL NOTES

by Doug Brown

When dealing with a fine musical instrument such as a good piano, materials can't be haphazardly selected while expecting it to produce great sounds even if it is played by a great pianist. A great pianist requires a great piano. The finest pianos have soundboards of Washington or Oregon spruce. As the closeness of the wood grain is important to the amplifying capability of the wood, the best trees are those with rings that are close together. This means that piano manufacturers look to purchase slow growing trees on the shady side of the mountain. Slow growth creates close rings which have the potential to create great music.

Whether you are in the market for a piano or organ or simply are looking for a special piece of sheet music make DOUG BROWN MUSIC, 9219 S. Wayne Rd., Romulus, 941-8484 your first stop. Our staff is very knowledgeable in the world of music and is anxious to put that knowledge to work for you. Master Charge, Visa and local bank financing.

WEEKEND CAR TRIPS

If your family dreams of traveling cross-country, but doesn't have weeks-long vacation time, consider taking weekend car trips to scenic points in your state.

Packing light and right is important on short trips; these suggestions may help put you on the road to a happy mini-vacation:

• Pack coordinates that can be interchanged for several looks and take along accessories that can be used to dress up or dress down your outfits. Be sure to include an umbrella, extra sweaters for unexpected cool weather, and one pair of everyone's comfortable walking shoes.

• Be prepared! Don't let accidental spots and spills on clothes spoil your trip. Pack a tube or can of K2® Spotlifter to remove unexpected stains from dry-cleanable items; apply spot-lifter to the dirty spots, let dry to a fine white powder, then brush the powder—and soil—away. Also, take along some mild detergent for washing hand-washables.

SPINAL CURVATURES & CHIROPRACTIC

SPINAL CURVATURES

A spinal curvature generally begins in early childhood and steadily becomes worse. Chiropractors are able to correct such curvatures, providing they have not progressed too far; that is, if the patient is not too old and if the degree of curvature is not so marked that the bony segments of the spine have lost their normal shape and size.

MUSCULAR TENSION

Numerous ligaments and muscles are attached to the spine. These ligaments and muscles extend from the spine in opposite directions, with an equal number on either side. Normally these muscles have an equal pull, keeping the spine in the median line. However, when a set of ligaments and muscles exert a stronger pull than the ones on the other side of the spine, a curvature develops. Why do the muscles on one side contract and pull harder than those on the other?

REASON FOR TENSION

Every muscle is supported by nerve fibers which carry motor impulses from the brain to the muscle tissue. Normally these impulses are barely sufficient to maintain the tone of that muscle, which manifests itself as a slight contraction. If anything occurs to produce an excessive expression of these motor impulses, the muscle is excessively contracted. In the case of the muscles along the spine, this causes the vertebrae to be pulled.

FAR-REACHING EFFECTS

There are many far-reaching effects of spinal curvature which the patient does not realize. The curvature forces segments of the spine to assume an unnatural position; this may strain muscles or ligaments, crowd the internal organs or impair circulation.

Spinal curvature may irritate the spinal cord and nerve trunks also. These nerve trunks supply various organs of the body.

Therefore, it may be said that any organ could be affected, and any bodily function impaired, because of spinal curvature.

HOW DOES CHIROPRACTIC HELP?

Electrical change along a nerve membrane is called a nerve impulse. Nerve impulses are transmitted from the brain to the cells, tissue, muscles and organs of the body through the spinal cord.

If misalignment of the spinal vertebrae occurs due to a spinal curvature, nerve impulses become distorted and cause the body to malfunction.

The chiropractor, by careful examination of his patient, detects the problem and makes a skillful adjustment of the spine. Once the troublesome vertebrae are restored to their proper position, nerve interference is eliminated. The body then uses its own powerful restorative force to return its affected parts to full health.

Visit your chiropractor regularly to avert serious health problems. Children, in particular, should be checked by a chiropractor twice a year to detect misalignment or subluxation of the spine. Spinal curvatures are corrected more easily in childhood!

Perrinville School Attorney wants school — as is — for his office

The one-room Perrinville Schoolhouse, located at Cowan and Warren roads and estimated to be 135 years old, will become an attorney's office, if the proposal of attorney Alphonse Tabaka goes according to plan.

And if the hopes of the Westland Historical Commission go according to plan, the 1,000 square foot building will be restored with full attention to its historical significance.

Tucker and his architect have agreed to confer with the Historical Commission on renovating and remodeling the structure so that it will remain a prize example of architecture of that period. Jo Johnson, chairman of the commission, estimated that the Perrinville School was built in 1843.

Tucker will need to have the land rezoned to professional business use in order to move in. He also must come before council for site plan approval. But at a recent study session, the council asked that the plans be routed through the historical commission first, so they can see if the building's historical integrity remains intact.

There is a possibility that Tucker will build a second building on the site at a later time, he told council. According to city ordinance, that second building, would have to match the architectural design of the existing building, another factor that the council wanted to insure.

Mrs. Johnson agreed to supply the architect, who will be doing the renovation, with pictures of the school as it used to look, so it can be restored as much as possible, including details such as the bricks and window frames. The architect and Tucker seemed enthusiastic about maintaining the building in the historic style, perhaps even adding a belfry like the building had at one time.

In fact, Mrs. Johnson said: "If we have the cooperation of the owner, we can apply (to the state) for a historical demarcation."

Tucker is buying the property from a Bible church that currently owns the building. The structure is not used regularly, however.

Mrs. Johnson seemed glad to have a prospective property owner who would work with the historical commission, but she noted that initially, the commission had hoped that the city could buy the building.

"I would like to see the city own it, but since we can't, we want someone in there we can work with," she said.

She noted that there are only two historical buildings in Westland — the Perrinville School, and Nankin Mills center — that are available. All others are privately owned.

She added that she would like the city to have first option to buy the school if and when Tucker eventually wants to sell it. He agreed to include the clause in his purchase agreement.

Tucker must now develop his site plans and come before council for the rezoning and site plan approval.

Seniors may miss claims for home heating assistance

Many senior citizens who appear to be eligible for home heating assistance payments from the State of Michigan apparently are not claiming them, according to Joseph B. Faremouthe, Wayne County district manager of the Michigan Department of the Treasury.

Faremouthe noted that there may be some confusion, since this year heating assistance is applied for on the same form as that used to claim a refund of local property taxes. In previous years a separate application was necessary through the Department of Social Services.

"A study of the first few thousand forms shows many of them are filled out only with the property tax information," he said, adding that "while the income information indicates the applicant may also be eligible for the home heating assistance."

Not everyone receiving a property tax refund is eligible for the heating assistance payment, but there is a relationship between the two programs. There are some differences in the eligibility requirements, and the Treasury Department cannot make the computation and payment unless it is applied for on the form, Faremouthe said.

Generally, applicants who are receiving public assistance or Aid to Dependent Children, those with more than $30,000 of liquid assets and persons who are claimed as a dependent on someone else's income tax return are not eligible for heating assistance payments, even though they may qualify for a property tax refund.

The amount of heating assistance payment is determined by a formula relating to the applicant's household income and the number of exemptions. Senior citizens 65 years and older are entitled to two exemptions and receive a greater benefit than others.

Faremouthe pointed out that assistance with the preparation of the necessary forms is available in all 22 Treasury Department offices throughout the state and through many local organizations. Locally, the treasury office is at 23400 Michigan Avenue, in the Village Plaza at the corner of Outer Drive, Dearborn.

SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD MINUTES

MINUTES OF THE SPECIAL MEETING OF THE SUMPTER TOWNSHIP BOARD
HELD ON FEBRUARY 6, 1979.

The meeting was called to order at 7:14 P.M. by Supervisor Demski. Attendance at Roll Call Showing:

Present: Supervisor Demski, Clerk Hoffman and Trustees: Morgan, Folks and Korotney.

Late: Treasurer Russell
Absent: Williams
Excused: None
Also present: Attorney Hess

Motion by Korotney, supported by Hoffman to accept agenda. Motion carried unanimously.

AGENDA

1. Pledge
2. Roll Call
3. Approval of Agenda
4. Discussion of Drainage Policy with Wayne County Road Commission. Road Commission Members present: Attorney Schendel, Engineer Togasaki and Maintenance Dresselhouse
5. Adjournment

Folks advised Board that he was one of a committee that met with the Wayne County Road Commission last September. Mr. Youngblood explained that they didn't have the money to clean our drains but they would assist in any way possible such as secretarial help, etc.

Treasurer Russell arrived at 7:18 P.M.

Mr. Folks went on to add about the flooding conditions at Martinsville and Willow Roads.

At this time Mr. Mahoney, of the Wayne County Road Commission, introduced himself as representing Mr. Dresselhouse at this meeting.

Korotney asked the Road Commission representative if they had a plan to give us.

They stated if the Board propose a specific problem they want done, they will give the Engineering information such as the horizontal and lateral's necessary so the water will run the way it should. We would not have the use of any equipment.

It was stated that the Township has master mechanics with heavy duty equipment of their own that they are willing to use on the job.

Mahoney stated that the Road Commission only have four gradalls and they are 1960 models.

Mr. Mahoney stated that the ditches where road flooding or road damage is being done due to the water laying on the road should be looked into first.

The Road Commission members stated that the three of them could not commit themselves, but the Township should get things together in writing and submit to Mr. Meyer, as he would be the one to say what they can do and what they are allowed to do. The Township should submit a specific need and put in a request for same.

Korotney asked if we are to recommend to the Road Commission what we need.

Mr. Mahoney suggested that the Board get with the Road Commission and set up a program and make a request as to what help we need. In turn the Road Commission could advise the Board as to what they have to offer. Road Commission would aid in the planning.

Morgan presented a copy of a study taken by a Wayne County Task Force and asked if there was anything in it that could help us. Commission explained that no follow-up was ever done on the study and only a partial solution would be in that report.

Hoffman asked Folks when they had the meeting, who was there and what was discussed. It was a joint meeting of the Wayne County Drain Commission, Wayne County Road Commission and Sumpter Township.

Supervisor Demski recommended the Township get a plan, write it up and take it to the Road Commission.

Motion by Morgan, supported by Folks the Board write a summary of our problem and needs in regard to drains and send to Mr. Meyer and Mr. Youngblood of the County Highway Department requesting a meeting to formulate a formula for solution. Motion withdrawn, support withdrawn.

Schendel advised the Board meet with Dresselhouse first and see if the problem can be resolved. Pick a project that the Township wishes to complete and solve. Isolate one problem that can be discussed with Dresselhouse.

Supervisor suggested another meeting with Dresselhouse to see if we could get a man and machine assigned to the Township, what the Township can allocate, as the Township does have funds for maintenance. Another meeting was suggested as soon as possible.

Motion by Morgan, supported by Folks Board confer with Township Engineer and develop a summary of Townships overall drainage problem, with Township Engineer and County Engineer, select drains to be cleaned on priority basis and present plan to Mr. Dresselhouse with request for his assistance in formulating and implementing plan to begin cleaning project. Motion carried unanimously.

Supervisor advised that Mr. Dresselhouse be contacted for a meeting.

It was suggested that a meeting with the Engineers be the first step. The Engineers to be officially notified in the next few days.

Folks suggested a committee be set up with someone to take minutes and meeting also be taped and all Township Board members be given a copy. Meeting tentatively set for 5:00 P.M. Wednesday, February 7, 1979, with Township Engineers.

Motion by Korotney, supported by Hoffman to adjourn. Meeting adjourned at 8:15 P.M.

Folks thanked the three members of the Road Commission for coming to the meeting.

Respectfully submitted,

Clarence J. Hoffman, Jr. Clerk

LeCesne gains 'insights' into other cities' needs

Inkster Mayor Terrel M. LeCesne, retiring chairman of Region III of the Michigan Municipal League (MML), says the experience has helped him gain much insight into the needs of surrounding cities.

"It gave me an opportunity to meet with officials of many other cities and get a good understanding of the mutual problems shared by us all," LeCesne said.

"I enjoyed the experience tremendously and met a host of interesting people. Being chairman also kept me abreast of current issues and my discussions with others gave us a broader perspective of the overall picture."

Other retiring MML officers, in addition to LeCesne, are Justine

Barns, Westland Council member, vice-chairman, and Donald Zub, Mayor of Taylor, secretary.

The newly elected regional officers for Region III of the MML are William Kozerski, mayor of Hamtramck, vice-chairman; Zub, vice-chairman; and Marie Scott, Dearborn Heights Council member, secretary.

More than 160 mayors, village presidents and other elected and appointed municipal officials attended the annual Region III meeting of the Michigan Municipal League on Jan. 25 in Inkster. New officers were elected at the meeting.

Regional meetings have been held by the MML for the past 26 years in 10 regions in the state. These area meetings serve to bring more than 475 member cities and villages into closer contact with the MML and to provide the opportunity for an exchange of ideas and cooperative action in the matters of mutual concern.

In addition, these meetings assist the officials of the League in formulating policies and rendering service by expressing to the League's Board of Trustees the recommendations of the region.

The Michigan Municipal League, founded in 1899, is the statewide association of cities and villages serving to unite members in collectively striving for home rule and promoting higher standards of local government.

The MML established its regional organization in 1953 as a device for bringing its programs and facilities closer to the membership. These sessions provide for an exchange of ideas and information in cooperative solutions to the day-to-day problems of mutual concern to municipal officials.

The success of these meetings prompted the membership to amend the bylaws in 1963 to formalize the division of the state into 10 regions, of which Region III is defined to include Wayne County.

In addition to being a vehicle for education and training, regional meetings promote interest in the League, assist officials of the League in formulating policies and rendering service by expressing to the Board of Trustees the recommendations of the region, and serve as a basis of dissemination of information on legislative matters.

Regional officers, elected at each annual regional meeting, serve as liaison between MML headquarters and the regional member municipalities.

They also serve as a program committee for the regional meeting, selecting the time, place and program to be presented.

The Jan. 25th meeting was entitled, "Living With Less", and informed attendees at the six-hour conference how the recently passed Headlee Amendment would affect the financial structure of local communities.

Farmland preservation given second chance

If the price is right, voters in Canton Township may approve funding for the farmland preservation program in another election scheduled for May 30, 1981.

Voters narrowly rejected the program last November at the polls.

Canton's board of trustees agreed with Trustee Eugene Daley dissenting, that an election be held by that date.

Until that date the planning commission of the township is prohibited from revising the western agricultural section's portion of the master plan.

At a special study session on the farmland issue Supervisor Noel Culbert said he wanted to give single direction to the issue instead of "everybody going their own way and duplicating efforts."

While many said the issue has been dragging on for at least five years and should come to a close either for preservation or against, Culbert said he wanted to do justice to the issue by giving the board enough time to develop new strategy in preserving the farmland and engineering alternatives in case the voters reject another millage.

Culbert also said he wanted the "price to be right" in the next election, and more commensurate with the actual value of the farmers land.

"I think that asking for $15 million was unrealistic and it can be done cheaper than that", said Culbert.

Planning commissioner Robert Shefferly spoke against the farm preservation issue and said that it was costly and only a means to stop growth in a township that is destined to build.

Shefferly was in the minority, at the session.

"I think if we had spent as much time on growth management instead of the farmland issue—your pet project—that we could have gotten a lot of positive things accomplished," said Shefferly.

Culbert said that no matter what action the board takes people with the same thoughts as Shefferly are bound to sue the township for implementing any farmland preservation program.

Farmland preservation, according to research conducted by Wade and Trim Planning Associates is cheaper than full development.

While Shefferly questioned why Canton Township... when it may be 20 years too late, Trustee Robert Greenstein questioned: Why not?

"We're at a pivotal point, and what ever Canton does will have a domino effect on other communities watching us," Greenstein said. "It's time we think of our grandchildren, because the agricultural department reports that by the year 2000 the country will need at least 8 million acres to feed itself. And now we only have 4 million acres."

You're right it should have been done 20 years ago, but it wasn't and that doesn't mean we have to turn our heads and take the easy way out."

Baseball sign-ups accepted

Although one wouldn't believe it by the weather, it's time to sign up for baseball.

Anyway that's what the Romulus South Little League will be doing Feb. 22-23 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the Romulus City Hall.

Boys and girls, ages 8 through 18, are urged to sign up at this time. Further information may be obtained from Colleen Ottenbreit, 941-5687.

Oh yes, don't forget to bring along your birth certificate and $15 per player for registration fees.

Mayors mingle

The 26th annual regional meeting of the Michigan Municipal League was held recently and mayors from the five cities served by Associated Newspapers were on hand to learn how the recently passed Headlee Amendment would affect their cities. The six-hour session drew approximately 150 elected officials and administrative aides to Inkster's new $2-million Recreation Complex where the

Insurance hearing set

The State Insurance Bureau will hold hearings later this month on proposed changes that would alter how insurance companies set their rates to meet the Supreme Court requirements for no-fault insurance.

The hearings, according to State Rep. Robert Law (R-36th District), will be held in the bureau's Lansing offices, 1048 Pierpont, at 9:30 a.m. Feb. 21 and 22.

"I urge persons working in the insurance field and any policyholder interested in today's insurance rates to take time to offer some input on the proposed changes in the insurance industry," Law said. "These changes would put more regulations on insurance companies; if they are approved."

The proposed rules would more clearly define situations in which companies can refuse to insure a risk because of a person's age, marital status, occupation, residence or location of the risk.

"The rule changes

Editorial opinions

Tail wags dog, boy bites dog, dog bites tail

Last fall, Michigan Blue Cross and Blue Shield, announced a $3,000 grant to Wayne County for the purchase and distribution of Vial-of-Life kits.

Wayne County's senior and handicapped citizens believed they would be the beneficiaries of the program.

They were wrong, at least half of those qualified residents of Wayne County have yet to see those kits, even though the program was touted to have been fully implemented last October.

While the qualified citizens of the eastern portion of the county did indeed manage to get their kits, at least 20,000 vials still remain in storage at Wayne County hospital.

It seems that the Director of the County's Office on Aging, Mr. Danta Divatto, ordered, that the kits earmarked for the citizens of Western Wayne County, be held in storage until further notice.

In January, Divatto was pressed for an explanation of his order. He replied that the kits were being held pending a program follow-up in Western Wayne County.

Exactly what that follow-up was to involve, never was explained, and 20,000 Vial-of-Life kits continued to gather dust at Wayne County's J-Building, while senior coordinators of this area, unaware of the kits in storage, made plans to purchase their own vials from outside the county.

We don't think this could have occurred had a County Executive been responsible for the operation of the Office on Aging.

Further evidence of the county commissioners' advanced stage of impotence came when that same county department head, ordered his staff to refuse questions from the news media.

Divatto, apparently unable to further justify delays in the implementation of his assigned programs, made the decision to issue the 'gag order' prior to leaving on a 10 day vacation.

During his absence the 'gag order' was discovered and when the Chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, Richard Manning, was asked to order it lifted, he refused on the grounds that he didn't want to make Divatto look foolish.

Manning apparently preferred to have the entire county look foolish.

We doubt that a County Executive would have allowed such a situation to develop, but if it had, most probably it would have been resolved much differently.

Added to the apparent mismanagement of county's Office on Aging, Manning's decision to support a 'gag order' aimed at keeping citizens uninformed of what was happening at the county, leads us to believe that the county can no longer operate without the strong hand of an accountable official.

With governmental problems becoming more complex, and the citizens unwilling to further fund unlimited solutions it is time for a County Executive in Wayne.

The classic case of the 'tail wagging the dog' outlined here, is further indication that the 'politics first — people second' philosophy now firmly entrenched in Wayne County government can not produce the answers to today's problems.

While it has been said that many fine people have devoted their lives to county government, we fear that their first concern is to themselves and not those who are employing them — Wayne County's taxpayers.

It is probably also unfair for us to expect the chairman of the Wayne County Commissioners to be able to keep tight rein on the far-flung county operation when he must operate in primarily a political environment.

Therefore, let's elect someone of our own choice to lead Wayne County government back into respectability.

The commissioners have tried — they have failed.

Editor's Log

Government enemy No. 1 back in the saddle

By DENNIS FASSETT
Managing Editor

Who ever said Robert Tisch was done? I opened the mail this week, and included with the urgent release from almost every agency in town was a letter from Robert Tisch.

For the benefit of those of you who may have already forgotten the man who helped to shake the pillars of our "cost is no object" government, Tisch is the Shiawassee County drain commissioner who headed the group called the Tisch Coalition for Property Tax Cut in Michigan.

During the 1978 election campaign, Tisch and several other organizations successfully forced the question of tax reform onto last November's ballot.

Tisch's proposal closely resembled the California Proposition 13 which slashed government spending and property taxes in that state by $70 billion.

Following the balloting in November and the overwhelming rejection of his proposal, Tisch fell ill and little had been heard from him since.

It is rumored that mysterious stranger poked him with an umbrella with the initials 'MEA' embroidered on it.

Well, the man who most certainly was prominent on the "hit list" of several special interest groups, has surfaced again.

That, of course, is not to say that he ever really sunk, only that in the celebrations following the rejection of his proposal, he was a bit difficult to see.

Bob Tisch, in his letter, thanked us at Associated Newspapers for the coverage of his campaign to cut the taxes of Michigan residents.

In addition, Tisch asked for our opinions on the proposal that he and his supporters presented to the voters in November.

It seems that there is another move afoot to produce a proposal for the 1980 election that would improve upon the last version — eliminating some provisions, adding others, in order to attract broader support for the across-the-board tax cut measure now synonymous with his name.

Perhaps it is my attraction to Tisch personally that has clouded my judgment on the subject of taxes and tax reform.

The 6-foot, 6-inch Tisch presents a picture of the country bumpkin, lost in the wilds of city sophistication.

What is on his mind is what you are going to hear, like it or not, and when in his company you never wonder what he is thinking. And his favorite meal appears to be roasted bureaucrat.

I suppose that the attraction to Tisch by his many supporters results from the man's uncanny knack of saying what the people he is representing are thinking. And if it is only "hype", he does it very well. But like thousands of others, I believe he is real.

In spite of the scathing criticism of his tax proposal last November, what Tisch offered the Michigan voter was a real alternative to a real problem. Unresponsive government at every level, seeking and gaining increased funding at will and leaving the tab for us.

While the approval of the Headlee Tax Proposal has promised to limit state spending, it offered no promise of tax relief for citizens burdened with a government already bursting at its bureaucratic seams.

I have said in the past that I truly appreciate the efforts of those who are willing to expend considerable effort on behalf of the rest of us who are "just too busy to get involved".

It is fortunate for our state and country that people like Tisch, Headlee and Jarvis have made the sacrifices necessary to focus public attention on problem areas.

It is equally unfortunate that those people are attacked and labeled "radicals" by those special interests who would be hurt by their proposals.

Unless we all learn that government can never give without first taking away, we may all end up with nothing, as happened in ancient Greece.

The great historian Gibbon described how that happened: "In the end, more than they wanted freedom, they wanted security. They wanted a comfortable life and they lost it all — security, comfort and freedom. When the Athenians finally wanted not to give to society, but for society to give to them, then Athens ceased to be free."

Surely, Michigan and America deserves better.

Reflections

Grandma knew how to get things done

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Several years ago one of the most popular TV programs was "I Remember Mama." Whether it hit everyone else with the same impact of nostalgia that it hit me I don't really know, but I do know that my four older kids still talk about when they were little and how the minute they showed the last bite of supper into their mouths, Mama grabbed them and slapped them all into the bathtub and into bed. They were allowed no drinks of water and no hurry up calls to the bathroom. Mama didn't dare miss one segment of "I Remember Mama."

My poor kids will probably never be able to write a successful TV program about how they remember mama, because what kind of a program could they write if they never experienced sitting around a big old table playing cribbage or hearts or what have you, with mama and papa while the cattle lowed in the barn and the frogs croaked outside the window?

But I could write such a series because there wasn't any TV when I was a little girl and we lived on a farm and the cattle lowed in the barn and the frogs croaked outside and we all sat around a big old table with a kerosene lamp smack in the middle and we played "Old Maid" and other exciting games like that. I used to wonder why my father yawned so much.

I also remember grandma. She came to visit us one time when I was nine years old. In twenty-four hours she had taught me how to crochet, tutored me in short division and made me practice the piano for forty-five minutes every eight hour period.

It was while she was pounding the short division into my head that the hired woman stopped by the table and leaning on her broom remarked wistfully that she wished her daughter could be tutored in long division. "That girl has got no brains when it comes to arithmetic," she said.

Naturally, my grandmother grabbed the opportunity to show what she could do even with kids who had no brains, so she offered to have the girl come over to the house every afternoon after school for tutoring.

A week after the tutoring had begun, I had been sent home from school miserably ill with a high fever and a sore throat. My mother made a bed on the living room sofa and tucked me in where I watched through the archway as my grandmother went over and over the math exercises she had given the girl to memorize. Finally in frustration my grandmother told her that she was "slow," for even a nine year old could catch onto such simple problems.

Jumping up from the table my grandmother strode into the living room and pulled the covers off me.

"Here," she commanded. "Put on your robe and come in and show Diane how simple this math is."

I wouldn't have dreamed of refusing. I trotted after her, head throbbing, and covers sliding off my shoulders.

"Here," she said as she pulled out a chair for me and shoved a piece of paper in front of me. "Take this problem and work it out. I want you to show Diane how simple it is."

I glanced through my feverish eyes at the paper and terror leaped up in me, for I knew, even if my grandmother didn't, that long-division was way beyond my ken.

And then I looked at Diane. She was sitting there with her head bowed, tears in her eyes, biting at her underlip. As I looked at her she glanced up and stuck out her tongue at me.

That did it! Somehow I had to show her!

My head throbbed, and my throat hurt, and I was scared of my grandmother. I looked frantically about that table, searching, searching for a way out of the dilemma...and then I saw it. The problem all worked out in my grandmother's neat handwriting was lying close to a nearby book.

Putting my left hand over my forehead, I leaned on my arm as I furtively copied the problem. My grandmother watched in triumph. She snatched the paper from me and waved it under Diane's face.

"See," she said. "See how simple. Even nine year old feverish little Joyce can do it." I felt pretty sick to my stomach. Actually, I felt like I was going to be sick all over that long division problem.

My mother came in to see how her sick kid was doing and as she looked in horror at that sick kid sitting up at the dining room table, my grandmother triumphantly waved the problem in her face and said, "I brought Joyce in to show Diane how simple this long division is," she boomed. "Now if poor sick feverish little Joyce can do it, then a big healthy girl like Diane should be able to."

My mother put her arm across my shoulder and as she looked down into my miserable eyes, her glance found the "problem" all worked out in my grandmother's hand, and as she glanced at it, and then looked at me, she knew. And she knew how sick I was...with more than the flu.

She bundled me off to bed, kissing my forehead and hugging me close as we walked. Comforting me.

When I got well I had to go to my grandmother and confess. My grandmother looked down at me from her imposing height and chuckled.

"Land sakes, child," she said. "I put that problem there so you could see it. I knew you were smart enough for that. And ever since that Diane has just been going great guns. A real whiz, she's turned out to be. But I already knew it. She just had to be inspired!"

I remember Mama...but I also remember Grandma whose child psychology wouldn't be recognized today, but who made it work whatever way she could.

Deputy shoots at critics

EDITOR:

As a police officer and resident of the City of Romulus, I feel it is my duty to reply to Mr. Newberry's letter that appeared in this paper on February 7, 1979.

I have been a resident of Romulus for 14 years and have served the City since September 1, 1971 when I was assigned to the Romulus Division.

Over 50 percent of the 40 officers that are assigned to Romulus reside in the City and are taxpayers. I would like to assure Mr. Newberry and all the other residents of Romulus that I and my fellow officers assigned to the City are concerned for the property and welfare of the citizens.

Not having been in contact with Mr. Newberry in a professional capacity, it would be impossible to comment about what took place between he and the officers. I would, however, like to suggest that Mr. Newberry has made some judgements when he was not in possession of all the factual data of the incident.

I am sure that the gentleman was not aware of the activities of the officers before they arrived. It is necessary to answer calls on a priority basis. It would be interesting to learn Mr. Newberry's qualifications for determining the officer's state of mind. It appears to be highly unfair to classify 40 individuals who have committed themselves to a public service position on the basis of two short contacts with the department.

What Mayor Oakley and the City Council have provided is 24 hour protection from highly trained, professional officers. The contract with the sheriff's department is patterned after that of Los Angeles, St. Louis, Toronto, Memphis, and many other cities that have a large metropolitan police force to serve many extended communities.

Surely, this is an indication of a "progressive leadership who wish to provide top notch service without bankrupting the citizens of their community. I, and many other officers, appreciate the constructive suggestions from the community we serve for improving our patrol. Even a good department can improve.

What a successful department needs is citizen support and concern, not labeling and name calling. I would like to extend an invitation to Mr. Newberry and other citizens of the community to join with the officers permanently assigned to Romulus patrol to provide the safest possible condition for the City.

Tautological rhetoric?

Not our Jim!

EDITOR:

It is no small wonder that Jim Bradley is the most promising writer on your staff. Jim has an uncanny way of filling a column with tautological rhetoric.

There are enough problems facing your readers of a serious nature so that your paper does not have to belabor the trite.

If Jim would make one promise — speak to the readers and not at them — your paper's readership would, no doubt, grow.

Health Beat

It has its moments

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

Frequently, as I roam about the communities comprising the PCHA, people will ask me to detail the romance of having a job in community relations.

It's true that a community relations person does have some opportunities open to him which perhaps others don't; I've had lunch with Thomas Murphy of General Motors, Fat Bob Taylor the singing plumber, many of Detroit's professional athletes, and just last week I had the good luck to sit for an hour with Jerry Hodak of TV 7.

But there are other chores. Today I'm going to write about the week I experienced just recently — a week in which I met myself coming around corners.

Monday. Got into the office at 8:15 a.m. Met with a vendor, and the two of us headed for Ypsilanti to Beyer Memorial Hospital for a meeting with the Administrator.

Left Beyer at 10:15 and drove to Taylor to the Heritage Hospital to meet with the Assistant Administrator and then the Administrator. Finished with these meetings at 12:00 noon, and grabbed a quick sandwich at the Heritage cafeteria. Finished the sandwich and headed back to Wayne for a meeting with the Administrator at Annapolis Hospital.

At 3:30 that meeting was finished, and the vendor and myself came back to my office and did some work on a project which we had been discussing all day with Administrators.

In the office I found 12 phone messages — all marked urgent that I reply immediately — and two notes that some one wanted to see me at one of our other hospitals. Headed home at 7:00 p.m.

Tuesday. A repeat of Monday, except the vendor and I visited Outer Drive Hospital in Lincoln Park to meet with the Director of Nursing and the Administrator.

A side visit saw us with the Manager of Cardio-Pulmonary Services. Lunch again on the run, and once again a handful of messages and mail waiting in the office.

Wednesday. This time our trip was to the Seaway Hospital in Trenton where we met with the Administrator and his Assistant. Then off to two downriver newspapers to drop off press releases and explain the hospice concept to an editor and two reporters.

Lunch was a little more leisurely taken on Wednesday. We finished our work at 8:00 p.m. in my study at home.

Thursday. Had to be at Outer Drive Hospital at 8:00 a.m. to take a picture of the new Chief of Staff and interview him for a story.

Left Outer drive and zoomed down I-75 to Seaway Hospital for the same Chief-of-Staff type story and picture. Had to be back in Wayne for a 12:00 noon meeting of the Patient Education Committee — of which I am a voting member — and just as I was leaving that meeting at 2:00 p.m., I was stopped by a surgeon who needed me to take some color pictures of a specimen he had removed earlier in the OR.

Back to my office, loaded my camera with color film and raced back to the Pathology Lab. Pictures taken. I once again got myself psychologically prepared to attack my now-completely-filled desk. A nurse stops me. She has a story idea, and the next 45 minutes are spent taking notes.

Back to Central Office, call my film processor, and then try to get this column finished for Denny Fassett's approval tomorrow morning. It's now 6:30, and I'm getting ready to wrap up.

So while it's true that indeed I do get my glamerous assignments, believe me, there are weeks such as the one I've just partially described which add another gray hair or two.

But, I'd have it no other way. I'm a lucky person, in that I'm actually paid to do the things I really enjoy doing: meeting with people, being the spokesman for the largest hospital authority in the Country, writing news releases and this column, being able to associate with some extremely bright people, and being privy to some fascinating developments in the ever changing field of medicine to mention just a few good things.

My only regret is that I didn't explore the possibilities of a career in hospital immediately after graduation from college.

If you are young and considering career choices, take a good look at my field; take my word for it, you'll never be bored.

Advocacy journalism compromises the news

By EDWIN FUELNER

While it may have caused a ripple in ever-watchful journalism circles, I must admit I was surprised to learn from two close associates that the Society of Professional Journalists — "Sigma Delta Chi" — had officially endorsed the Equal Rights Amendment.

Yet, I suppose I should not have been surprised by this open expression of advocacy by the so-called "professional" journalists, had I read more carefully a recent article by attorney Max Kampelman, former close associate of the late Hubert Humphrey.

Writing in Policy Review quarterly, Kampelman notes: "While a developing sense of professionalism and self-restraint by the media is the preferable solution, there are serious internal obstacles to its acceptance. The 'attention arresting' lead sentence and what Walter Cronkite calls the 'hyper-compression' of television news negate accuracy and balance. The rise of 'advocacy journalism' in which the reporter sets out to advance a point of view or to become himself part of the news, compromises the journalistic process. There is, furthermore, an understandable tendency among some journalists to be impatient with standards of objectivity. In addition to looking upon the media as defenders of the people, many journalists now see themselves increasingly as spokesmen for the people."

Yet, a Daniel Yankelovich survey reports that there is a serious gap in values between the bulk of journalists and the society for whom they would speak.

John Buckman, a former journalism intern at The Heritage Foundation, recently documented some of these shortcomings in a study prepared for The George Washington University journalism department.

Using the resources of the Vanderbilt University TV News Archives Center, Buckman showed how television newscasters repeatedly call upon the same (almost always Democratic) politicians for comment on important issues; Americans are not given both sides.

Said Buckman, drawing on his dispassionate study of the tuition tax credit and neutron bomb controversies, "This project has demonstrated that the TV news organizations... give unsustaining and uneven coverage to the two issues, relying on a small circle of people to act as spokesmen for the various positions. The audience was exposed," he said, "to a restricted number of comments, opinions, and themes..."

It would appear, young Buckman concluded, "that television failed to fully meet its duties in the coverage of the two critical issues — crucial social choices, in fact — examined in this report."

As Kampelman suggests, and many Americans would agree, the cumulative effect of the media's shortcomings is that public confidence in practitioners of the journalism trade continues to decline. A Harris poll has revealed that public confidence in TV fell from 35 percent in 1975 to 28 percent in 1977 and that confidence in newspapers and magazines fell from 26 to 18 percent.

And a nationwide survey by the University of Texas shows that 84.4 percent of those responding believe journalists slant the news — and 71.6 percent of journalists agreed.

What's the bottom line? According to Kampelman, if the so-called professional journalists don't clean up their act the public is going to demand retributions — maybe in the form of some sort of government controls.

Unfortunately, this is not a far-fetched notion.

One of journalism's long-time leading lights, Vermont Royster, upon receiving the National Press Club's Fourth Estate Award last month, warned: "Freedom of the press is not some immutable right handed down to Moses on Mount Sinai. It is a political right granted by the people in a political document, and what the people grant they can, if they ever choose, take away." Let's hope it never comes to that.

On the Brighter Side

Bland, banal and stereotyped

By JIM BRADLEY

"Bradley! Come in here." My managing editor sounded more ominous than usual as he motioned me to come to his office. As I sat down I sensed an unusual gravity about the situation. He shuffled some papers on his desk and took two meaningful puffs on his pipe.

Slowly looking up, he immediately got to the point. "I've been meaning to talk to you for some time about the excessive use of tautological rhetoric in your column. And now I guess we need to bring it out into the open."

"What do you mean?" I asked, looking more dumfounded than usual.

"You know what I mean!" he said, piercing me with his penetrating gaze. "You have a knack of filling your column with tautological rhetoric every week and you've been discovered and unmasked at last. You say the same thing in different phrases — needless repetition of meaning in other words — and it will just have to stop, that's all there is to it."

Me guilty of tautological rhetoric? "Well, if it's true, it certainly was accidental," I assured my boss. "But are you sure my columns were filled with it every week? Why didn't you tell me sooner so I could empty some of the tautological rhetoric out?"

He took a couple more puffs from behind his Doctor Grabow. "Well, Jim, to be perfectly honest, I knew there was something amiss, but I just couldn't identify it." Then reaching in a drawer, he brought out a letter and said a reader had written to the editor to inform the public that my columns were filled with tautological rhetoric.

"I really didn't know what to label it until his apt description hit the nail on the head," he said.

He continued, "Not only that, you belabor the trite. Your material is a bunch of hackneyed expressions, a cache of clichés, stale, void of interest, threadbare, shopworn, bland, banal and stereotyped."

"Nobody's perfect," I countered. "What you say may be true — but my column is certainly not stereotyped. I type every line myself."

He tried to reassure me when he saw my confidence was shaken.

"I've tried so hard to be a good example to other people in the office," I said slowly. "And now, to be accused publicly of deliberately using tautological rhetoric, what will my friends think? I certainly didn't do it on purpose."

"Why don't you tackle problems with sociological implications, governmental ineptitude or politically convoluted intrigue in your column?" he suggested.

"Because there are many good writers covering those weighty subjects. And besides, people are so depressed with the cares of life, they like to read something light-hearted and humorous. Then too, my column is one of the best read items in our newspapers."

Dr. Grabow got a few more drags. "That may be true, but I'm not going to expose our readers to any more tautological rhetoric. After all, this is a family newspaper."

As I returned to my desk, I noticed people in the office were gathered in little clusters, whispering and casting furtive glances my way. I couldn't help but hear one woman say, "Tautological rhetoric, who would have ever thought of it, Jim?"

Word must have travelled fast. No one came around my desk all day long. Finally, the phone rang to break the long-endured silence. "Hello," I said eagerly, trying not to sound too trite.

"Mr. Bradley? I'm the one who asked you last week to come to our school and speak to our students about journalism. I'm sorry, but we're going to have to cancel your appearance here."

I was perplexed. "Does it have anything to do with tautological rhetoric?" I asked.

"To be perfectly honest, I don't know how to pronounce it," the voice answered, "but that sounds pretty close."

Feeling greatly discouraged, I threw my threadbare coat over my shoulders, pulled on shopworn galoshes and headed for my stereotyped automobile. When I arrived home, my son, Jeff, met me at the door and showed me his latest high school assignment. His teacher in Creative Writing class had barely given him a passing grade.

"Why?" I asked.

"He lowered my grade because he said I wrote the same thing over and over again using different phrases."

"In other words, tautological rhetoric?" I demanded.

"Why yes, how did you know he told me that?"

"Because son," I said in my most authoritative tone of voice, "there are a lot of stereotyped people in the world who like to bandy about trite clichés."

School board denies 'earmarking' 3-mill request

The Wayne-Westland millage election March 5 will be a request for a straight three mills for school operation. The funds will not be earmarked on the ballot to use for textbooks and maintenance, as had been proposed by Board President Fred Warmbier.

Warmbier was the only board member advocating the earmarked millage at last week's board meeting. Other members Thomas Barrett, Stephen Kelly, Kenneth Marshall and Donald Rusnock vetoed Warmbier's idea of placing on the ballot the proposal to use the 3 mills for textbooks and hiring of maintenance personnel.

The board did unanimously approve a "board policy" on the millage funds, however. In that resolution, they promised to use as much of the three mills as needed to restore spending accounts "for student supplies and materials to a level which would allow adequate availability of textbooks, teaching materials, athletic equipment, other supplies, and the initiation of an equipment preventive maintenance program."

Board members voted for this resolution because they wanted to commit themselves to remedying

'I don't want our options limited, because I don't know what our priorities will be...'

the textbook shortage, but didn't want the "inflexibility" of locking themselves into having to spend all of the three mills on those items during the next two years.

The 3-mill request is for two years time.

"I don't want our options limited, because I don't know what our priorities will be one, two, or five years from now," said Kelly. "If we are successful in the millage, the textbooks is an area that should be immediately addressed, but I do not want the inflexibility of earmarking when we don't know about the future."

The other board members, with the exception of Warmbier, and Gerard McGrath, who was absent, made similar comments.

Warmbier said he liked the idea of the board policy earmarking the funds, but would have preferred the "force and effect of the people speaking" by having the earmarking actually on the ballot. He abstained from voting on approving the wording of the ballot question, which calls for a 3-mill increase for "general school operation."

School Superintendent Timothy Dyer had strongly recommended against earmarking the funds in the text of the ballot question. He promised to carry out the board's policy of replenishing textbooks and maintenance personnel if the millage passes, and said that those priorities would be taken care of by the beginning of school in the fall. In promising to spend the funds necessary on those accounts by board resolution, Rusnock commented that the board was asking for the trust of the people.

"If we adopt this resolution, it is incumbent on us to carry it out," he said. "If anything goes wrong, we have to look only to ourselves."

YWCA prepares schedule for its Job Search Day

The YWCA of Western Wayne County will be sponsoring a "Job Search Day" Feb. 22.

The workshop will be held at the YWCA, 26279 Michigan Avenue, Inkster, and will focus on the woman who has a need for a job, just feel she is limited by lack of skills or direction in which to turn.

There will be no frills, no lunches, just basic, valuable, concise information, a Y spokesperson said. Participants should bring their own lunches.

The program will begin with registration at 8:45 a.m. It will continue until 3:30 p.m. The cost, including materials, is $3.50.

Doug Hoxeng, acting director of counseling at the University of Michigan-Dearborn and consultant in career education, will conduct the three-hour morning session.

Hoxeng will lead participants through a personal step-by-step procedure to assist in identifying hidden skills. The self-discovery will lead to awareness of work areas of occupational themes which best fit.

He also will stress the techniques of marketing skills and the creative way to get hired.

The afternoon session will consist of two panels, made up of people in varied lines of work, who will share their occupational experiences and backgrounds. The panel members will assist participants in decision making for employment in a chosen field.

Panel members include Margaret Miller, women's editor of the Observer Newspapers, Douglas Keller of the Michigan Opera Theater, Debbie Funke of Manufacturers Bank, Sheryl Tosen of Wayne County General Hospital and Char Denomme of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Co.

Members of the second panel are David Schmeiser of the Automobile Club of Michigan, Joy Slaughter of the Northville public schools, Jim Taylor of the Ford Motor Co., Leslie Stansell of Parke-Davis and Charles Truza of IBM. Pre-registration is requested and can be completed by contacting Audry Wasserman at 561-4110.

ACTION seeks 10,900 volunteers

During the month of February, ACTION, the federal volunteer service agency, will mount an intensive campaign to increase public understanding of the goals and achievements of nearly 7,000 Peace Corps volunteers overseas and 3,900 VISTA (Volunteers in Service to America) volunteers here at home.

The campaign is part of a major recruitment drive designed by ACTION as Peace Corps-VISTA Month. Throughout the month, ACTION will focus upon recruiting volunteers of diverse ages and backgrounds for both of these full-time volunteer programs.

The emphasis will be to recruit Peace Corps volunteers with a general background and a strong commitment to help people meet their basic needs for decent health care, education, food, water, shelter, job training and economic security.

"Peace Corps volunteers play a vital role in promoting mutual understanding between Americans and the peoples of Third World countries."

VISTA is looking for people who are serious, who have sensitivity and compassion. Self-reliance and self-confidence are important factors.

A spokesman said: "VISTA is not going to alleviate poverty in the national scheme of things. It can't change the whole national picture, but in terms of the local neighborhood, the local block club, a local elderly transportation system in a rural area, those effects are as much needed now as they were 10 years ago and those are the things that committed, full-time VISTA volunteers do."

VISTA is seeking 1,300 new volunteers to begin training in the spring and summer. VISTA volunteers serve for one year in the fields of education, recreation, health, architecture, urban planning, law, business, construction-housing and community development.

The new VISTA volunteers being sought include 110 lawyers for legal rights and legal services projects and 920 persons with general backgrounds for community development projects.

Nearly 3,000 Peace Corps volunteers will be recruited to serve in 63 developing nations in Latin America, Africa, Asia and the Pacific. The greatest numbers are being sought for agriculture, forestry-fisheries, education and health projects. Volunteers also are needed in business, skilled trades, architecture planning — engineering, home economics-social work, arts and social sciences and math-science. Training for two-year Peace Corps tours begin this spring and summer.

For more information about the Peace Corps or VISTA, interested persons may call ACTION's toll free number at 800-424-8580.

Belleville coasts to WW swim title

Black Belter

Pretty Paula Jackson, a 17-year-old Wayne Memorial student, is in a class of her own when it comes to karate. Miss Jackson became one of the first - if not the first - young woman to earn the distinguished title of Black Belt.

Tigers sweep 8 of 11 first places

Coach Sam Vichy's Tigers swept eight of the possible 11 events en route to an impressive victory over a field of seven other entries.

Only Wayne, the host for the 17th running of the invitational offered resistance, but that was in minor form. Coach Jim McPartlin's tankers didn't swim up to par in the crucial finals, he said.

Vichy has now won seven of the last nine championships and commented, "We didn't swim well because we were a little down after losing to Dearborn (43-40) earlier in the week."

"Once the kids saw the heat sheet for the WW, they realized that they would have to swim very poorly in order to lose, therefore there wasn't very much pressure on them," Vichy said.

A disappointing 120 some fans - mostly from Wayne and Belleville - showed up to witness the finals and a record-setting performance by Wayne Memorial's senior, Dave Hills.

Area fans getting complacent?

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Sports Editor

To make sure the word, "complacent", isn't misconstrued, we turned to the only authority we know, Webster, to make sure people in the area fully understand the word.

Webster points out that "complacent" means, "calm or secure satisfaction with one's self or lot." Complacency also can be dangerous, according to Webster, because "It is also self-satisfaction accompanied by unawareness of actual dangers or deficiencies."

Several of the area coaches used the word over the weekend to describe a potentially dangerous trend; they used it to caution high school sports fans for taking much for granted.

"The people in this community (Wayne-Westland) have become so used to having winning wrestling teams at their high schools," said Glenn Coach Bob Lusk following his team's triumph at Redford Thurston, "that they have become somewhat complacent in their attitude toward the programs."

"The people have assumed the posture that anything less than winning is not acceptable," Lusk continued. "And that is unfortunate."

Lusk pointed out that, in his opinion, the Wayne-Westland schools have one of the best wrestling programs in the entire state.

"With the exception of the programs down at Bedford Temperance and Grandville," Lusk said, "I'd put our programs up against any in this state."

Complacency by the fans could also be reflected by the number of fans who turned up for the 17th annual Western Wayne Swimming & Diving Championships. Some 120 took their places in the gallery where it was once a SRO affair.

"I really don't know what it is," said Wayne Coach Jim McPartlin, the host for the eight-school meet. "Some put the blame on the gasoline situation, and the cold weather, but we have had to compete with that in the past. It's a shame because we had some excellent performances this year."

Coach Sam Vichy, Belleville's veteran swim coach, offered another explanation for the decline in attendance.

"I feel we were competing with the wrestlers who were also staging their league championships. But, I must say this, maybe it was because of the lack of publicity by the local newspapers or the time of day (It was staged in the afternoon on Saturday), but, again, our fans showed up - we took up one-third of the bleachers."

The meet was dedicated to Harry Hidenfelter, Belleville High's former athletic director who succumbed to a fatal heart attack last year.

"Harry was very instrumental in organizing this meet and was an avid supporter of prep swim programs throughout the state."

"I'm very happy that we managed to win this one for him," Vichy said.

The Great Lakes 8 Conference will soon be losing one of its members, according to a release from the athletic director at Riverview High School.

Riverview has announced its intentions to drop out and join the Huron Conference, also an eight-team league which will be losing Tecumseh to another conference.

"We're a Class B school in Class A dominated league," said Bob Eisiminger, Riverview's AD. "In the Huron we will be playing teams that are compatible student population-wise."

This should be good news to Romulus, which has been "homeless" since the dissolution of the Twin Valley League. The Eagles have successfully been searching for a conference for the past seven years.

Inspired Wayne puts on show at GL-8 mat tourney

An inspired Wayne Memorial wrestling team, working methodically and deliberately, left little doubt in anyone's minds who was the best team this year at the Great Lakes 8 Conference wrestling championships.

Wayne brought home six individual titles thanks to Dave Shell (98), Frank Turgeon (126), Bob Payton (132), Joe Glass (155), Dave Lusk (165) and Mike Racinski (178), and finished runner-up at 138 with Lou Toarmina and also earned two third places with Jim Daniels (119) and Mike Blair (145) to dominate the competition held at Fordson High.

However, since Wayne lost to Monroe in the league during the dual meet season, coach John Wood's Wolfpack for the third consecutive year have to share over-all championship with the Trojans of Monroe.

"Unquestionably," Coach Wood said after the stunning triumph, "this was our best effort of the season. Everyone on the team came to wrestle and contributed."

"I knew that Wyandotte was the dark horse team in the league and they came within three points of handing us the championship outright."

The three points Coach Wood was referring to was the spread that Monroe beat Wyandotte for the runner-up spot. If Wyandotte had finished second, the Wolfpack would have had the title to themselves.

Wayne amassed 197 points, beating their arch-rivals, Monroe, by 30½ points.

Shell managed to emerge from the mats as one of only two repeaters from a year ago. The Wayne senior and Monroe's Boo Pippens, a 105-pounder, also won gold a year ago at the same weight classes.

Glass, a junior, was also presented the "Hustler Award" as he strung together three consecutive victories by falls in an elapsed time of 5:43.

freestyle (23.1) into the Belleville win column.

Belleville also continued its domination of the diving boards as Pat McClelland amassed 414.85 for the gold. Wayne placed second with Scott Papke (390.05) and Mark Mills, another Belleville diver, nailed down third place.

Renton's 57.2 was the best time for the 100-yard butterfly and Stoelton came back for a 51.0 to take the 100-yard freestyle. Whittico then chalked up the 100 backstroke and Thomas was the first one to touch in for the 100-yard breaststroke to give the Tigers the runaway triumph.

The Most Valuable Wrestler Award eluded him, however, as coaches singled out Riverview's Brian Kilinski, a 112-pounder, for that accolade.

Glenn wrestlers dominate Northwest championship

The dominant wrestling force in the Northwest Suburban Conference for the past decade has been Westland John Glenn.

And Coach Bob Lusk's machine did it again Saturday, claiming its 12 Northwest Suburban Conference championship in the past 13 years.

"I am really pleased," Coach Lusk said following his team's relatively easy win. "We wrestled well and I hope we can carry some of this enthusiasm and aggressiveness into the district this Saturday."

Glenn will join neighborhood rivals, Wayne Memorial, and a host of other teams at the Class A district championships scheduled at Temperance Bedford.

At Bedford, a wrestler must finish among the top four in his respective weight class in order to qualify for the regionals, slated the following week at Hazel Park.

Glenn harvested four gold medals, five silvers and four third place awards at the conference championships. Bill Meyer, who won the 155-pound class championship, repeated a feat he had accomplished a year ago. Teammates Terry O'Neill (126), Bennett Clemons (191) and heavyweight John Burns also have the bragging rights to league titles.

Glenn had runners-up in Pete Bolagano (98), Mark Demers (105), John Pfeiffer (138), Ken Hodge (165) and Jeff Null (178).

The Westlanders finished third best at 119 with Guy Haggard, Greg O'Neill and Duane Gibbs.

"I'm very pleased that everyone on our team placed in the top three of their weight classes," Coach Lusk added. "When we needed a clutch performance, it was there this year."

Spartans take big step closer to cage title

McNally's shock-troopers jolt Melvindale, 41-40

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

A jam-packed standing-room-only crowd watched "Coming Home" festivities at Melvindale Friday night but it was Cherry Hill which took one step closer to being crowned "king" of the Tri-River League for the third consecutive year.

Coach Dick McNally's Spartans had the fight of their lives but managed to escape with a 41-40 victory in a hard-nosed, scrappy defensive struggle against the ever-dangerous Cardinals on their home court.

"Melvindale is never easy to beat in their own gym," said a relieved McNally after his Spartans had notched their 12th win in 15 starts and ran their Tri-River record to 8-2. The hard-earned win left Cherry Hill tied for first place in the conference with Garden City West, which also ran its league record to 8-2 with a 73-63 win at Southgate Schafer.

"There was really a lot of emotion at Melvindale Friday night at their Coming Home festivities," McNally said of the event which crowns a "King" at the high school.

"It was a 'must' game for them and they played with real intensity, but give our boys a lot of credit, they battled a lot of odds to come away with the victory."

With Melvindale employing zone and combination defenses, Cherry Hill could only hit 17 of 45 shots in the game and sank just 5 of 22 in the first half, which ended 16-16.

Floyd Simmons, Cherry Hill's All-State candidate, picked up three fouls in the first four minutes of the game and sat out the remainder of the first half. However, his mates helped build a 12-10 first quarter lead as Melvindale hit only three of 16 shots from the floor and remained frigid in the second period as they canned just three of 15 attempts.

Melvindale's hustling, tenacious defenders kept the Spartans off-stride in the second quarter, limiting them to only one field goal in 10 attempts and just four points as veteran coach Wes Danyo's Cardinals knotted the count at 16-all after 16 minutes.

Cherry Hill, which out-rebounded Melvindale 28-23 in the game, fell behind 29-26 after three periods. The Cardinals sank six of 12 floor shots in the third period for their best spurt in hitting a dismal 15 of 52 field goal attempts in the entire 32 minutes.

Melvindale, fired up by the vocal home crowd, led 35-31 with 4:00 left in the game. The Spartans, however, refused to get rattled and tied the score, 37-all, with 2:03 showing on the clock.

It was a frantic closing two minutes as Floyd Simmons, who led Cherry Hill with 14 points, tied it at 39-39 with a lay-up with 1:23 left. A free throw by Melvindale gave the host crowd a chance to roar its approval of Melvindale's 41-40 lead with less than a minute to play.

But Andy Simmons emulated his older brother Floyd's heroics by drilling in an 18-foot jump shot from the right side of the free throw circle with 21 seconds left. Cherry Hill grabbed the rebound of a Melvindale shot that bounced off the rim and ran out the remaining seconds.

Pierre Hudson was the only other Spartan in double figures with 10 points. Melvindale's left-handed ace, Frank Farraj, notched 21 to lead the Cardinals whose record dropped to 9-6, four of those losses coming in Tri-River League play.

The pressure continues to build as the Spartans hosted Taylor Center Tuesday night in a non-league clash.

The Spartans close out their season with four Tri-River League games. Friday night they host a weak Dearborn Heights Riverside squad before battling a tough band of invaders from Taylor Kennedy on Feb. 20.

Then Cherry Hill visits Garden City West in a Feb. 23 showdown that should decide this year's Tri-River champ. In their first meeting, the Spartans overcame a 53-52 West lead by scoring twice in 12 seconds before West scored again and had the ball as time ran out in the 56-55 thriller.

Cherry Hill closes out its season at Dearborn Heights Crestwood on March 2. Meanwhile, West, who is 11-5 on the season, visits so-so Southgate Friday night before hosting weak Riverside Feb. 20 and the Spartans on Feb. 23 before closing out its season in the "dungeon", the nickname given to the home of the ever-dangerous Taylor Kennedy Eagles.

Canton has cage title locked up

Canton's 12th victory of the 1978-79 basketball season made its way into the school's athletic history ledger for two reasons.

First, the 78-45 triumph over Farmington Harrison Friday night gave the Chiefs more victories in one season than any of their predecessors and, secondly, it provided Coach Craig Bell's proteges with a three-game bulge, clinching a share of the Western Six Conference championship.

If the highly-favored Canton club beats Walled Lake Western (1-6) Friday night it will secure the lock and key outright.

"We're really proud of what these kids have done," said Bell, who is rounding out his first year as head coach, "but there's a lot more ahead of us, including a tough district. Our goal is to go undefeated in the league."

Canton wasn't taking any chances against a Harrison which had looked good in its previous meeting with the Chiefs. Leaping to a 22-6 lead behind the gunnery of sharpshooter Butch King, the Chiefs maintained a 15-point advantage most of the game.

Ahead 39-22 at halftime and 55-36 for three periods when the bench did most of the work, the Chiefs out-scored their cold-shooting rivals 18-13 in the last period.

"We managed to play everyone,"

Coach Bell said, "and it was one night where everyone contributed."

King led all scorers with 18, while Dave Visser and Rusty Mandle chipped in 12 and 10 respectively.

Canton wasted King's 22 point scoring effort as the Chiefs digested a 56-51 loss at the hands of Livonia Stevenson earlier in the week. The Chiefs went into battle without their 6-5 center Mike Gollnick who was sidelined with the flu.

"Stevenson played a zone the entire night and we just couldn't hit the outside shot," Bell said, "plus the fact that our inside game was weakened because of the absence of Gollnick."

Inkster loses shootout, 104-91

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Sports Writer

Inkster High School coach Geroge Thompson, Jr. must wonder how many points his cagers have to score to win a basketball game.

His Vikings lit up the scoreboard with 153 points in two non-conference games last week but still failed to post a victory against two top-rated teams in the state.

Detroit East Catholic, which was ranked number one in Class D in the state, got all they could handle from Inkster before foul shots gave them their final 104-91 margin.

Then on Friday, Willow Run, who has been rated in the top five Class B teams in the state, rode a 26-14 second period blitz to outduel the shorter Vikings, 79-62, as the taller Flyers canned several second and third shots off of rebounds.

"Willow Run really outrebounded us on the boards and their superior height kept us from getting second shots mainly in the second quarter when they built a 44-32 halftime lead," Thompson said.

Willow Run, paced by 6-5 center Johnnie Bailey with 22 points, ended the first quarter tied with its visitors, 18-18. Jim Ethington (15), Keith Jackson (14) and Bernardo Williams with 12 points gave the host squad the momentum to edge the Vikings 16-12 in the third quarter and 19-18 in the fourth period for the final margin.

Inkster again had balanced scoring as Eric Crouch popped in 19 points, Alvin "Bo" Dukes and Jim Lewis each had 14 and Darryl Willis added 13. The Vikings hit 27 of 62 shots from the floor for 43 percent while the taller Flyers, getting many

This time without Vince Bean

Romulus does it again to Pershing

What's all this fuss about Vince Bean leaving for Southfield High. With or without Bean's scoring and rebounding abilities, Coach Rod Hanna's Eagles proved they can handle Detroit Pershing. For the second time in less than 10 days, Romulus turned back the Detroiters, 69-60.

Bean, whose family moved to Southfield last week, wasn't in the lineup Friday afternoon.

"But, we played a good ball game, especially on defense and despite a couple of problems," Hanna said. The problems included an injury to high-scoring Darryl Lewis and an attack of flu to a couple of other cagers.

Lewis left the game early when he sprained his ankle, but the Eagles, backed by a solid defensive performance from John Kersey who also chipped in a team high 20 points, managed to overcome the obstacles.

Kersey handcuffed Pershing's

Kevin Ballenger who scored 28 points in the first game between these two teams. The 6-5 forward, who's averaging 20 ppg plus, was held to six points by the determined Kersey.

Up 16-14 after the first period, Romulus held a mere one-point lead at intermission (33-32), and increased it to a hefty three points by outscoring their hosts 12-10 after the half.

Richard Lewis, Darryl's brother, led a Romulus fourth period surge with 11 of his 14 points and Kersey tossed in seven of his 20.

"We turned to a man-to-man defense after zoning them most of the game and that apparently did the trick," Hanna offered.

Romulus, thanks to Dave Casey's efforts, also outrebounded the taller Dougboys 31-27 with Casey grabbing 11 of those for the Eagles.

Casey finished with 18 points and Lewis had 14 to support Kersey's season high 20 points. Romulus also sank 20 of 29 offerings at the foul line which helped.

John Green's 24 points for Pershing led all scorers.

Romulus played a solid 16 minutes against top-ranked Ypsilanti for 16 minutes before the Eagles collapsed and sustained an 89-59 loss at the hands of the Braves.

"Ypsi has an excellent team and it wouldn't surprise me if they went all the way in Class A," said Hanna whose team has the weekend off and will return to the hardwood on Friday, Dec. 23 when they travel to Willow Run.

Parkers ambush Wayne

Zebras head for Monroe on Friday

Fordson took a lot more out of Wayne than Coach Steve Schwartz expected.

Bowing to the league-leading Tractors last Tuesday, Schwartz' cagers were ambushed by Lincoln Park, 52-44, a team they easily handed the first time around in the Great Lakes 8 Conference.

The loss, the eighth in 11 conference outings, was also before a disappointed Parents' Night Crowd.

"I can't explain how we could play such an exceptional game against Fordson, then fall apart against Lincoln Park," said Schwartz, who sends his charges up against Monroe on Friday.

Wayne did put on a show against the Dearbornites who have the title all sewed up the championship by virtue of its 10-1 record. Tied after the first period at 8-all, Fordson took a 28-21 lead into the lockerroom at halftime, and, after intermission couldn't shake the tenacious Zebras loose.

Both teams scored 11 points in the third period and the Tractors lived off off their second period margin as Wayne outscored them 23-22 in the last period.

"That 61-55 loss was probably one of the hardest victories Fordson earned this season," Schwartz commented. "We played with a lot of intensity and battled them all the way. If we had made some of those foul shots in the last period, we may have won this one."

Wayne ran into a freezing one of 11 shooting streak in the second period against the Parkers who took command 28-23 after trailing 20-16 at the end of the first period. Playing deliberate ball in the third period, Wayne managed to outscore their visitors 8-5 but couldn't muster enough points to overcome the deficit as L.P. came back and put 19 points as compared to 13 on the boards in the final period.

L.P. was near perfect at the foul line when it had to be - they sank nine of 10 in clutch situations as Gary VonLinsowe made five for five and Rom McClister tossed in four of four at the line.

Kelvin Lee's 13 points and Darryl Jordan's 11 were tops for Wayne who have slipped into a sixth place tie with the Parkers.

Rockets rip R.U.

GC East game is title clincher for Glenn '5'

BY JIM BRADLEY

Six scorers in double figures helped John Glenn fight off a determined Redford Union squad at home Friday night, 82-70, and come within one game of clinching a tie for the Northwest Suburban League crown.

Now the Rockets take their unblemished 7-0 league record against a weak Garden City East squad this Friday night after hosting Wayne Memorial Tuesday night in their non-league cross-town rivalry.

Leading second place Livonia Franklin by two games, Coach Gordie Davis' Rockets can clinch a tie for their third consecutive NSL title. They round out their season by hosting a hot-and-cold Redford Thurston squad and visit North Farmington, the pre-season favorite to win the NSL crown who has fallen by the wayside.

"I felt we were in control all the way against Redford Union, but they hung in there and really gave us a battle," said Davis after Glenn ran its overall mark to 12-4. The Rockets led the entire game, cruising to a 20-14 first quarter margin before RU closed the gap to 38-36 at halftime.

But the Rockets, playing good team basketball, increased their lead to 57-51 after three periods before settling for the final 12-point victory. Darin' Daran Armstrong, the legitimate All-State candidate, paced Glenn with 17 points and his usual masterful floor game.

Brad Jennings and defensive specialist Tim Ruark chipped in 12 apiece, 6-3 Brian Craft, who has been coming off the bench and doing a fine job, notched 11, and Tony Colucci and big Mike Plocharczyk each netted 10 points. RU was paced by Paul Babits and Glenn Roberts with 16 points each.

"We're playing good team concept and getting a lot of good play from our bench," said the veteran Davis, who looks to wrap up league play and make a strong run in the upcoming state basketball playoffs.

All-Star Sports has lead in mixed volleyball loop

With a three-game sweep over Studio Lounge, All-Star Sports has taken command in the Wayne Parks and Recreation's Mixed Volleyball League.

All-Stars now has compiled an impressive 136-17 won lost ratio which entitles them to look down on a score of other teams. Whipping Studio Lounge, 15-3, in the first set, the league-leading team went on to 15-10 and 15-11 sets.

Meanwhile, Jake's Lounge bombed Hofbrau in three sets, chalking up sets of 15-13, 15-8 and 15-10.

In other action, the Leftovers turned back Burroughs Blues 15-10, 15-3 and 15-8, while the Jaycees swept Burroughs' Burros thanks to 15-5, 15-10 and 15-12 victories.

American Waste Service pulled out a hard-fought series with the Burrough No.2 team. After Burroughs struck for a 15-3 triumph, the Americans rallied for sets of 15-6 and 15-11 to salvage the series.

Snow White pulled the upset of the week - if not the season - when they jolted the Spikers 15-7, 15-8 and 15-1.

In Over 30 Hockey League

Brock's earns its lofty first place status

Brock's Homes, holding off Johnson Carbonic 5-4, regained its lofty first place status again in the Wayne-Westland Over 30 Hockey League.

The league-leaders had a 5-2 lead with two minutes to play when Johnson's counterattacked and scored two late goals.

Norm Hankala, Bill Keskey, Don and Keith Middaugh all scored for the winners. For the losers, Nick Palise's shot into the nets robbed goalie Tim Vanderburgh of a shutout.

A superb performance by Barry Anderson sparked Huron Valley Total to a 9-6 victory over 4-Seasons Sports Shop. Anderson had two goals

John Colligan, Jack Bockstanz, and Conrad Madaleno also found the range for two goals apiece. Dave Demers added a solo tally.

John Clearwood's hat trick led the loser's assault. They also watsed goals from Bill Creekmore, Tony Ianni and Tom Dilaure.

A goal by Rick Muller with 2:49 left on the clock was the difference in Extra Point's 4-3 victory over Tastee Freez. Terry Carley had the two goals for the winners and Marv Borycki the other.

Norm Beasley, Corky Hays and Paul Zatyko scored for the losers.

The teams will be back on the ice at Westland and Wayne rinks Sunday night. At Westland, Futurama and Four Seasons will clash in the opening game at 8:30 p.m. while Huron Valley is scheduled to play Jack's Sporting Goods at 10 p.m.

Over at Wayne, Brock's will attempt to stay on top and Tastee Freez will be the challenger at 9 p.m. In the nightcap, Extra Point and Johnson's are slated to meet at 10:30 p.m.

Inkster loses

In last week's other game, Inkster barely trailed No. 1 East Catholic by four points with 2:35 left before three consecutive charging fouls were called against the visiting Vikings, nullifying all three field goals.

East Catholic, which was led by James Ross (29 points), Anthony Baker (24) and Lamar Ragland (22), increased their slim late-game lead with successful free throws.

Three Vikings ripped the cords for 81 points as Dukes and Willis each tallied 28 points and Crouch added 25 in the run-and-gun offensive show that had the scoreboard lit up like a Christmas tree.

The two non-league losses dropped Inksters overall record to 6-6, but the Vikings remain in the thick of the title chase in the Suburban Athletic Conference. Inkster, with its 3-1 league mark, trails River Rouge and Highland Park, who lead the SAC with 4-1 records.

"We're really looking forward to our game with Highland Park this Friday night at their gym and we feel we still have a good chance to win the league title," said Thompson. "If we can knock off Highland Park and Ecorse, which is improving steadily, knocks off River Rouge, we will have a real all-out battle for first place," said the optimistic veteran coach.

After Friday's clash at Highland Park, Inkster will face Ecorse away on Feb. 23 in River Rouge at the latter's gym on March 2. The completion of the suspended game between Inkster and Highland Park is still in the hads of the state high school athletic officials.

Champs hold off Belleville

It went down to the last relay between defending Suburban 8 Conference swim champs, Dearborn, and challenger Belleville and the champs won.

"It was a good meet," said Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy following his Tigers' 43-40 setback, their first in the conference this year.

"Some people were content to take them down to the last relay," Vicchy continued, "and, though our kids aren't used to beating Dearborn, I still feel we're the better over-all team and that we're going to prove it at the league championships."

The championships will be decided March 8-9 at Schoolcraft Community College. Livonia Bentley will host the Suburban 8 teams.

Belleville managed to chalk up five of the 11 first places against Dearborn, a perennial Class A state swim power. Chris Renton chipped in the 200-yard freestyle and the 100-yard butterfly in winning times of 1:51.3 and 55.9 respectively, while teammate Mike Stoelton won the 50 freestyle (23.0) and the 100 freestyle (50.5).

Sophomore Pat McClland showed he was the class of the divers as he grabbed the only other Belleville first place. He was awarded that lofty position thanks to 247 points.

Checking out the kitchen was the project last week for Marj Forde (left) and Barbara McKenzie who are among the Episcopal Church Women preparing for the group's Pre-Lenten Polish Dinner. Set for Feb. 21, the menu will feature many Polish specialties which will be served from 5 to 7:30 p.m. in the church hall. Mrs. Forde is president of the ECW while Mrs. McKenzie is chairing the dining room committee. The dinner will take place at Trinity Episcopal Church at the corner of Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue.

Although you'd not believe it to look at him, Fay Ferguson DID turn 70 years of age on Feb. 6. And in honor of the momentous occasion, his family got together to make it a day he'd long remember.

honored man's current activities — swimming, and square dancing — which he enjoys regularly with his wife.

Special entertainment for the day was provided by Donna Ferguson and Shari Ferguson who serenaded their granddad with "Happy Birthday" played on their cornet and flute respectively. Each guest had been asked to write a verse about Fay in rhythm to the song, "You Are My Sunshine" and that, too, added to the merriment.

Messages to the septuagenarian included a call from his 93-year-old mother, Mrs. Myrtle Ferguson, and his sister and brother-in-law, Dottie and Tom Hagen, in Kansas City, Mo. Son Richard and his wife, Lennie, were out of town but also sent best wishes to their dad.

Come 1980 and years to follow, there will be a "double header" celebrated at the Sloan home at 11701 Hoyt Dr., Belleville. Not only was the baby expected by Woody and Irene Sloan their first boy, but he managed to arrive smack on his dad's birthday, Feb. 6.

Giving their mom, the former Irene Sohoza, a hand with the new baby are his big sisters, Dana who's seven, and Diane, five.

Taking grandparental honors are two Belleville couples, Mr. and Mrs. William Sloan and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Sohoza. The childrens' proud great-grandmother also of Belleville, is Mrs. Emma Moore.

BY LEE SMITH
Suburban Living Editor

Last week's concert by the Norman Luboff Choir at the Wayne State Theater and the group's super arrangement of "Mood Indigo" motivated the opening for this week's 'potpourri' offering.

Being one of my very favorite pieces, "Mood Indigo" inspired my thinking as to what other songs would be on the top 10 of my personal "Hit Parade" should the subject ever come up. I managed to compile six thus far but rather than dwelling on my OWN favorites, I decided to turn this segment over to readers of this weekly column.

How about YOUR pet songs? Care to share them with others? If so, just jot them on a postal card and send to me at 116 Fourth St., Belleville, 48111. Or — give me a call at 697-7591 after 4 p.m. or call the office, 697-9191, on Thursdays. We'll use your name or omit it, whichever you prefer. Just thought it might be fun to see what songs from across the years have made you happy, nostalgic, whimsical or toe-tappy.

Just to give you an idea of what might be included, my other five (if you care to know) are — "Just a Closer Walk With Thee", "America the Beautiful", "Battle Hymn of the Republic", "Moonlight Sonata" and "Silent Night". I'll have to get down to some serious thinking about the last four by next week.

And just before closing time last Thursday, I told the "gang" their homework for next week was the aforementioned. "That won't take me a WEEK," Bob Ameen said, and in no time at all he handed me his list headed by "More" and including "My Hero" from the Chocolate Soldier — "Granada" — Amor ti Vieta (our Bob's an opera buff) — "Serenade" from the Student Prince — "Road to Mandalay" — "O Solo Mio" — "Gunga Din" — "Always" — "Isle of Capri".

Although I'm only mid-way through my latest book, I still have to mention it so that others who share an interest in the Washington, White House, Capitol Hill scene might add it to their list of books to read.

When I learned that "Backstairs at the White House", a new mini-series for TV, was based on an autobiography by Lillian Rogers Park, I called the library pronto and asked to be put on the reserved list. Alas, the book was not included in its cataloguing. But in the meantime, they DID have "UPstairs at the White House", would I be interested?

And that's how I came to be completely absorbed in J. B. West's story which bears the sub-title, "Life with the First Ladies."

At this writing I'm beginning the chapter on his days with Jacqueline Bouvier Kennedy which covers about one-fourth of the 368-pager.

I've already been through West's assistant head usher days with the Roosevelts and could almost feel the whirlwind Eleanor created with her round-the-world travels necessitated by FDR's incapacity. And, too, a reader is made part of her never-ending luncheons and dinners which were apt to include the man-on-the street as well as royalty.

You're able to feel the genuine closeness of the Trumans (who in private were called the Three Musketeers by their staff.) West describes their down to earth attitudes, the First Lady's keen but dry sense of humor, the couple's overprotection of Margaret and the decisiveness of Harry S.

With the Eisenhowers, Mamie's bubblyness is often in contrast to her no-nonsense command of things. An Army wife most of her years, she issues orders with the firmness of a top sergeant but still manages to convey her pink-pink-pink personality.

FDR's progressive frailty (kept from the public), the Truman's lives at Blair House as the White House was completely gutted, Ike's and Mamie's days on Pennsylvania Avenue as well as at Gettysburg are all chronicled for interesting and easy reading.

JFK's brief residence promises to be even more so . . .
It's a good book!

Just before West's autobiography, I found myself reading "Rachel, the Rabbi's Wife" which would have been most enjoyable were it not for the author's constant use of vulgar, unpleasant and altogether unnecessary terminology.

A "rebbitzin" (rabbi's wife) herself, her choice of words is a bit much to fathom although I got the feeling she (Silvia Tennenbaum) did so to create a bit of shock in her readership which — without a doubt — would include those in her husband's congregation. One can't help but believe her story is in part autobiographical . . . and, if so, she's "getting back" at those people who feel she does not "fit the mold."

How do senior citizens celebrate their birthdays these "mod" days of the 70's? Well, they surely aren't spent dripping with nostalgia or in talking over the "good old days."

It seems a certain resident of the community put notch No. 70 in his belt recently and if you're interested in how the big day was observed you'll find the story (Fay Ferguson's 70th, etc.) right here in the Suburban Living section.

If the ads were to state "starring Edna Rae Gillooly", would you know they meant Ellen Burstyn in the latest promo for her role in "Same Time Next Year" with Alan Alda?

If the partnership were to read "Rogers and Austerlitz", would you be aware they meant "Rogers and Astaire"?

In picking up a recording of "From This Moment On", would you buy it if the credits for the mellifluous tones were given to "Arnold Dorsey" rather than Engelbert Humperdink?

BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW — that the skin of an average-sized adult weighs between 6 and 7½ pounds. Or that if you were spread out flat, your skin would cover an area of about two square yards.

DID YOU REMEMBER — that today is Valentine's Day?

THE BOTTOM LINE: A good rule for going through life is to keep the heart a little bit softer than the head.

A summer wedding is being planned by Cheryl Johnston of Ypsilanti and Kenneth Sims of Romulus. Calvary Baptist Church in Romulus has been reserved for their August 25 altar date. The bride-elect is the daughter of Lucille Johnston of Ypsilanti and Donald Johnston of Lincoln Park. Her fiancé's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Le Roy Sims of Ozga Road, Romulus. Miss Johnston is in her senior year at Willow Run High School. The prospective bridegroom, who is currently attending Henry Ford Community College, is a 1977 graduate of Romulus High School now employed by the Ford Motor Company in Dearborn.

Bentley Galleries names artists of year

Two Belleville women were honored as "Artists of the Year 1978" by fellow students of the Bentley Galleries, located on Morton Taylor Road in Van Buren Township.

Wanda Blahut and Sylvia Boelter got top awards from among some 80 students, getting their blue ribbons at a gala awards ceremony held recently at the studio.

As students, instructors and friends nibbled on hors d'oeuvres, homemade cookies and other snacks and beverages, the two Belleville women and other painter-students were given awards for specific oil paintings created during 1978.

The Galleries have a monthly competition for best artist, where students themselves choose the winner, and this annual event picks the best of the best, said Chris Bentley, owner of the studio.

Mrs. Blahut was named first- and second-place winner for the year, winning a frame and ribbon. She also was awarded an engraved plaque naming her artist of the year.

The top artist had never painted before coming to the Bentley Galleries a couple of years ago. The oil painting that won her the first prize was a scene of an actual southern mill, entitled "Tennessee Mill."

Mrs. Bentley said: "Wanda is one of the hardest working artist at the galleries. Her paintings have been an inspiration to all that see them."

Mrs. Blahut also had been first —, second- and fourth-place winner of the Belleville Area Artist Club's first art exhibit held at Belleville High School in December.

Sylvia Boelter won the third-place prize for her painting of birch trees. Describing the painting, Mrs. Bentley said: "You felt as though you could walk right up and feel the bark on the trees."

Her efforts earned a ribbon and engraved plaque.

Other artists of the month honored for 1978 included Sherry Wenzel, for painting "Greatest of Ease." She was also a third-place winner in the Belleville Area Artist Club exhibit.

Also honored were Dottie Richmond of Westland, for her still life, Joyce Hamrick for her mountain landscape, and Jeff Robertson for his painting of a deer jumping a log.

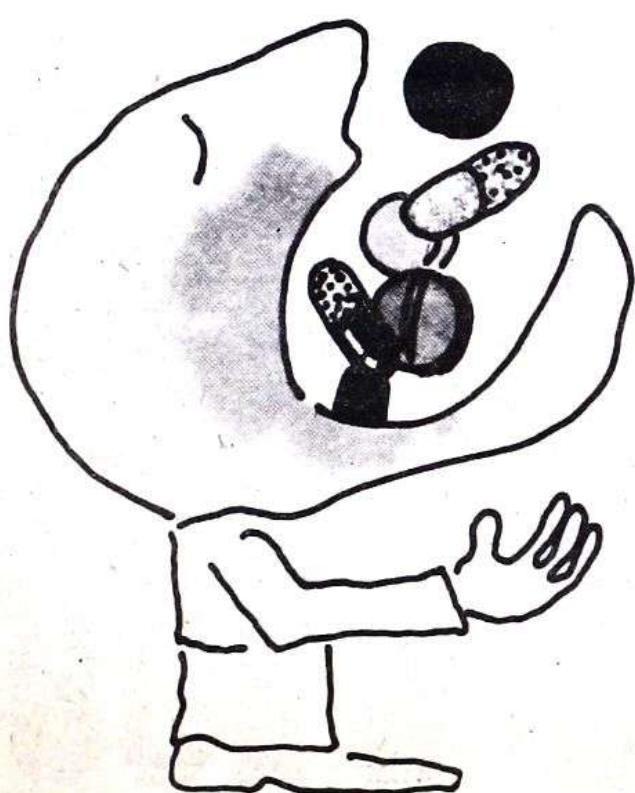

A special highlight of the awards ceremony was the guest speaker Edie Joppich of Farmington Hills, an artist who spoke to the audience about abstract paintings.

The Bentley Galleries, located at 9547 Morton Taylor Road, has eight instructors who teach day and evening classes to persons from age 7 to 70. One of the popular courses at the studio is the "ala prima" sessions where a prospective artist completes a painting in one sitting, for the price of a canvas. That one sitting can take five or more hours, and is so popular a class that is booked into April, Mrs. Bentley said.

Top artist

Wanda Blahut of Belleville was lauded as Top Artist of the Year 1978 at Bentley Galleries in Van Buren Township. Mrs. Blahut won both first and second place prizes for her oil paintings "Tennessee Mill" and "Vermont Farm."

Are you a

PILL POPPER?

When most people think of drugs, they think of the "hard stuff" and everyone would agree that this is a health hazard. But what most people overlook is the danger of "ordinary medications."

From birth we are subjected to pills, pills and more pills. We even keep our own stockpile of them in our medicine cabinets. And we take them, many times without consultation, often times without knowing how various medications interact with each other.

year from drug-induced illnesses.

There is no doubt about it, we are a drug-oriented society.

But there is a way to break this drug dependency. There is a way to restore your body to health without pills, potions or prescriptions. There is a way to retain the go and glow of youth without depending on crippling drugs.

The answer is chiropractic health care which allows your body to heal itself naturally. The power for health is inside all of us. Chiropractic helps to put that power to work.

No More Pills And Potions For Me

I had been going to doctors for years for sugar diabetes, nerves and high blood pressure. I also experienced terrible headaches and was on three different diets—cholesterol, bland and one for sugar.

Also pills, pills and more pills!

Between the diets and the pills, I was a total wreck and a rack of bones. Needless to say I was not leading a very happy or normal life. My family and home suffered because of me.

Then a friend took me to see Dr. Grassam. I didn't know how chiropractic could help me, but I didn't have anything to lose except my ailments.

Within two months I was eating whatever I wanted to eat, and was off the pills and potions. Now I enjoy life to its fullest. I've gained some weight and look and feel better than I have in years. There were also other fringe benefits, such as no more menstrual cramps, no colds, flu or other viruses. I can honestly say I owe my life to chiropractic.

If I reach only person with my testimonial, it will be worthwhile.

PAT STEWART

Ian A. Grassam, D.C.

"Hey Doc, What About My Family?"

That's a question that we have heard for years and we have now devised a plan to enable your whole family to enjoy the many benefits of good health.

Many times in the past, after being restored to good health through chiropractic care, our patients have asked about care for their entire family. "I just can't afford to have the entire family treated at the regular office fee," they say. Even though our $10 office call is the very lowest in the area, we realize that it can be a burden to large families.

So, to serve the needs of patients who do not have full family health care insurance, we are proud to announce the Family Health Care Plan which will make good health a family affair.

Under our new plan, which is in effect whenever two or more family members who do not have full family insurance visit us on the same day, the first member pays only $8. The second family member would pay only $3 and the third is only $1. All members after three, no additional charge. In other words the maximum cost for the family would be $12.

We have designed this plan to extend good health to everyone. There is a genuine concern that families should stay healthy together. Good health is, indeed, a family affair and it is an affair to be remembered.

Take advantage of our new plan today. Call now — 422-7800 and ask about our Family plan.

All insurance plans pay for Chiropractic services, including: Blue Shield, Aetna, Metropolitan, Teamsters, auto insurance, workmen's compensation, Medicare and Medicaid.

It's a date

Come to the Mardi Gras

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Band Boosters will sponsor their traditional "Cabaret" from 8 to 11 p.m. Feb. 17 at North Junior High School. This year's theme is "Mardi Gras" and will include music, dancing and light refreshments. Adult tickets are $2.50 and students and senior citizens tickets are $2. For ticket information, see any member of the Belleville High School Jazz Band which will be "on stage" for the event or call Dennis Miller at 697-9133 during school hours. The public is invited.

WILLOW — A family style chicken supper will be served starting at 5 p.m. Feb. 14 (today) at the Willow United Methodist Church, 36925 Willow Road. Carryouts will also be available.

BELLEVILLE — The Episcopal Church Women (ECW) of Trinity Episcopal Church will hold a Pre-Lenten Polish Dinner from 5 to 7:30 p.m. Feb. 21. The menu will include pierogis, kielbasa, cabbage rolls, sauerkraut, rolls, dessert and coffee. Adults will be charged $4 and children 3 to 12 years of age, $2. Those under three will be admitted free of charge. The church is located at the corner of Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue just south of I-94.

BELLEVILLE — The Junior Study Club of Belleville will hold its annual card party from 7 to 10 p.m. Feb. 21 at North Junior High School. Refreshments, table and door prizes will be included in the $1.25 ticket charge. Tickets for the traditional "hope chest" will also be on sale at 25 cents each or five for $1. The public is invited.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville La Leche League will meet at 7 p.m. Feb. 19 at 44119 Harmony Lane. This month's discussion will focus on nutrition and weaning. Mothers and their babies are invited to attend.

ROMULUS — Romulus South Little League will be registering boys and girls, aged 8 to 18, living south of I-94 at Romulus City Hall from 6 to 9 p.m. on Feb. 15 and 16 and again on Feb. 22 and 23. Registration fee is $15 per family and must be accompanied by the child's birth certificate.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will meet at 6:30 p.m. Feb. 15 at Edgemont Elementary School. Bingo will be the evening entertainment.

BELLEVILLE — Weight Watchers conducts two classes each week at Trinity Episcopal Church at the corner of Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue. The first session is at 5 p.m. and the other at 7:00 p.m. each Thursday. Weight-in time is one-half hour before each meeting. Call 662-6566 for further information.

ANN ARBOR — The Ann Arbor Area Ostomy Association will hold its next meeting at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 15 at the Senior Citizens Guild, 502 W. Huron. A representative from Bard-Coloplast for Ostomy Products will speak.

ROMULUS — The Romulus Horseman's Association invites all interested persons and 4-H Clubs to attend a slide presentation on "Horse Psychology" and "Genetics and Color Patterns for Horses." There is no admittance charge for the program which will be held at 7:30 p.m. Feb. 21 in the council chambers of Romulus City Hall, 11111 S. Wayne Road. Refreshments will be served and future activities will be discussed. For further information, call 729-6932.

BELLEVILLE — Overeaters Anonymous, Belleville Chapter, meets each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. For the Feb. 22 session, the group will hear two special speakers, Al and Judy from Detroit, tell of their success with the program; Al being over a 100-pound loser and Judy well on her way to that same goal. Bring your mates for a very interesting evening.

BELLEVILLE — Bingo parties are held each Wednesday at St. Anthony's Parish. The weekly sessions begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Foltz Building behind the church on West Columbia Avenue. The public is invited to attend.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: It's a Date is open to all local nonprofit organizations free of charge. Information for the column should be submitted by phone or mail by the Thursday before the issue in which it is to appear. Call Suburban Living Editor, Lee Smith, at 697-9191 or mail information to 116 Fourth St., Belleville, 48111. Items must be received by 2 p.m. on Thursday and will be repeated until outdated.)

Mardi Gras stars

Members of the Belleville High School Jazz Band will be "front and center" Feb. 17 when they star at "Cabaret", an annual musical evening sponsored by the Belleville Band Boosters. This year's theme is "Mardi Gras" and will take place at North Junior High School from 8 to 11 p.m. Music, dancing and light refreshments will be included in the admission charge. See the "It's a Date" column for further information. BHS Band Director Dennis Miller (at back) is shown with John Krueger (front row, from left), Barry White and Michael Chen. And in the second row, Mike Bramlett and Karen Alger.

"WE'RE LOADED"

from the floor to the rafters and wall to wall

AND YOU'LL BE GLAD WE ARE...
We're bulging at the seams with magnificent, famous name brands, famous quality furniture: bedrooms, living rooms, dining rooms, bedding, occasional pieces and everything in the way of fine furniture. We have to move them out, regardless of cost! We need the space!

HOW DID WE MANAGE TO GET INTO THIS DELICATE CONDITION...
We have to admit... it wasn't easy! Let's just say it was a combination of too much buying, not enough selling (the bad roads, or the not-so-bad roads that customers thought were bad roads because of the weather forecasters, had something to do with it). Too much inventory to begin with, special orders that weren't picked up, lay-a-ways, after-inventory "discoveries!" As we said, "We're Loaded!"

HERE'S WHERE YOU COME IN! THIS SALE MEANS TO YOU...
The marvelous opportunity to buy the quality furniture you have wanted... at prices that are affordable. You will wonder why you haven't come to Harry's until now! And now, thanks to our being a volume dealer, you can purchase all the beautiful new furniture your hearts desire... and not have a payment due until April, 1979... on approved credit, of course.

WHILE YOU'RE HERE AT HARRY'S...
Have some fun with the LARGEST CHAIR IN THE WORLD. It's in our Showroom C. We'll even take your picture sitting in the largest chair in the world... just as we did Harry and Mark and Mike Brennan. Harry is the one without the "brush!"

Theatre Guild to stage Shaffer's tale, 'Equus'

The Theatre Guild of Livonia-Redford continues its silver anniversary season with "Equus."

Peter Shaffer's brilliant tale of a disturbed youth who has blinded six horses, and a psychiatrist who, during his treatment, comes to envy the boy's capacity for worship and passion.

Howard Egan of Farmington Hills appears as the psychiatrist, Martin Dysart, and Kenneth Ward of Flint is the boy, Alan Strang. The stage is also dominated by horses: the deity, Equus, created by the boy's troubled mind; the foreboding shadow of a large horse's head imagined by Dysart; and the six visible horses portrayed by actors.

The most prominent of these is Peter Sonberg of Dearborn Heights and Nugget. Jeff Dove of Flint appears in the dual roles of Horseman and Horse. The other four are John Haglund of Novi, Patrick McKay of Livonia, David Preuss of Dearborn Heights and David Turrentine of Ypsilanti.

Director Mary Ann Vosgerchian has described the difficult task of these actors as "not mime, not dance, not imitation, but personification of the essence of a horse." The play also uses these six actors as a chorus similar to that seen in Greek tragedy.

Rounding out the cast are Ruth Palmer of Detroit as Alan's mother, Dora Strang; Marshall Murri of St. Clair Shores as the father, Frank Strang; Mary Cione of Southfield as the magistrate, Hester Salomon; Kathy Meyer of Dearborn as the young girl, Jill Mason; Charles Greenia of Detroit as the stable owner, Harry Dalton; and Gayann Brook of Farmington Hills as the nurse.

Performances are 8:30 p.m. Feb. 16, 17, 23 and 24 and March 2 and 3 and at 2:30 p.m. Feb. 25 at 15138 Beech Daly, just south of Five Mile Road, Redford. Tickets are $3.50.

Seating is limited, and reservations are recommended. For reservations or further information, call 422-4766.

Charlene Cook vying for teen-ager title

Among the state finalists in the 1979 Michigan National Teen-ager Pageant to be held in the spring is Charlene Cook, the 16-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Cook of 354 E. Huron River Dr., Belleville.

To be held at the Hoyte Conference Center at Eastern Michigan University in Ypsilanti on May 4, 5 and 6, the Michigan National Teen-ager Pageant is the official state finals to the national pageant to be held in Atlanta, Ga. in August.

The winner will receive a $500 cash scholarship, a full Barbizon modeling course scholarship and an all-expense paid trip to Atlanta to compete with the 50 other winners representing every state and the District of Columbia for the title of Miss National Teen-ager for 1980.

The reigning Michigan National teen-ager is Tamra Bates of Erie while the national title holder for 1979 is Barrie Burnett of Gallatin, Tenn.

Contestants will be judged on scholastic achievement, leadership, poise, personality and appearance. There is no swim suit or talent division. Each contestant will participate in the National Teenager volunteer service program as well as recite a 100 word speech on the pageant theme, "What's Right About America."

Miss Cook is sponsored by the Belleville Kiwanis Club, the Belleville Area Lions Club, Atchinson Ford and D.R. Schroeder Realty. Her hobbies include music, sewing and ballet.

Patty Craven earns a 'one' at Solo-Ensemble program

Patty Craven participated in the annual Solo and Ensemble performances for this district as did many other young people from Belleville High School on Feb. 3, at Livonia Franklin High School in Livonia.

Patty selected "Suite in A Minor", first movement, by George Phillippe Teleman as her flute solo. She was accompanied at the piano by her sister Diane Eick, a vocal music instructor in the Van Buren School system.

Patty was the recipient of a bronze medal with a blue ribbon, designating a "one", the highest award given in each category.

An 11th grader, Patty is considering going on to participate at the State Level in Solo and Ensemble. She is "first chair flute" in the Belleville High School Symphony Band and a member of the Belleville High School Marching Band.

The hostess presented two games with Pauline Quinley and Marie Murphy being the lucky winners.

The March 1 hostess will be Marie Murphy.

PM's lunch hosted at McAtee home

The regular meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order of the Eastern Star, was held at the home of Past Matron Frances McAtee on Thursday, Feb. 1.

Present for the usual 12:30 luncheon were 15 members and one guest, Kay Parker, Worthy Matron of Belleville Chapter. Table decorations were in keeping with Valentine's Day.

A short business meeting was conducted by the president, Joyce Maki, with devotions being in charge of the chaplain, Dorothy Kellas. A get well card was signed sent to Leota Marshall at Alpena.

Lawn and garden guide for February

Turn your back on cold and swirling snow and think spring! Michigan State University Extension specialists suggest diverting yourself with the following lawn and garden activities:

— Cut branches from forsythia, pussy willow, quince and other early flowering trees and shrubs and force them to bloom indoors. Use a sharp knife or pruning tool so you don't injure the plants. Place the branches in a bucket of water and keep them in a cool (60 degree F), brightly lighted spot. Mist the flower buds several times a day as they start to open. Make sure the bases of the branches are standing in water at all times and provide very cool temperatures (40 degrees F, if possible) at night to extend the blooming period.

— Bulbs potted in October can be brought out of cold storage in February for forcing into bloom.

— Trade your snow shovel for a stack of seek catalogs and start planning your 1979 garden and landscape plantings. Order your seeds and plant stock early for best selection.

— If you've started feeding birds, keep at it. By now they're relying on your feeder. If you stop feeding them, they may starve before they find another source of food.

— Landscape plant protectors may need repairs. Check them to be sure they're still keeping plants safe against fly salt spray, heavy ice and snow loads and gnawing rodents.

— Check the winter mulches on perennials and spring bulbs and add to it, if necessary.

— Prune wisteria, grape vines and fruit trees and other ornamental trees and shrubs, especially if they have been winter damaged. Otherwise, avoid pruning spring flowering plants and "bleeders" like birch, dogwood and maple. Winter pruning removes the flower buds for the current year's blossoms and causes "bleeders" to drip sap from untreated wounds. This doesn't hurt the tree, but it doesn't enhance its appearance. Unless you have to remove split or broken branches, leave these plants until summer.

When removing branches damaged by ice and snow, make all cuts flush with a major branch or the tree trunk. Do not leave branch stubs—they fail to callus over and often provide a place of entry for fungus infections, which will reduce the tree's vigor and harm its appearance.

— As long as you're outdoors, check shrubs and trees for tent caterpillar egg masses and bagworm cases. Tent caterpillar egg clusters are gray and foamy looking, and they encircle small branches. Remove these, along with bagworm cases and the eggs they contain, to eliminate some of this year's pests.

— Continue to check stored bulbs, corms, tubers, fruits and vegetables regularly. Discard unusable produce or moldy or damaged plant materials.

MSU experts give gardening advice

The lawn and garden and plant questions just don't stop — even in the winter. Michigan State University Extension specialists answer timely queries:

Q. I've been looking through seed catalogs and have the gardening bug. What's the earliest crop I can plant in my garden? And how early can I plant it?

A. Would you believe February? In the East Lansing area, you can plant celery as early as Feb. 20 if the ground has been prepared. For the crops we usually think of as cool-weather crops — beets, broccoli, cabbage, cauliflower, kohlrabi, lettuce, onions and garlic, peas, radishes, rhubarb and spinach — you'll have to wait until March. And for warm-weather crops tomatoes, peppers, eggplant, corn cucumbers, kale, potatoes, squash and melons — planting time is still months away.

Q. Is it OK to use soft water on my houseplants?

A. Watering with softened water is certainly better than not watering at all, but it may lead to the accumulation of soluble salts in the soil. Plants take up sodium salts from soft water just as they would take up a useful mineral. A buildup of sodium in the tissues may cause root damage and leaf burn. Buds and flowers may drop and plant growth may stop altogether. In severe cases, plants may die.

Using rain water, melted snow or distilled water will help prevent the buildup of salts in the soil. Overfertilizing can contribute to the problem, too, so, unless they obviously need it, it's a good idea not to fertilize plants — especially in the winter, when they're growing very slowly. Leaching — adding extra water to wash some of the salts away — physically removing the crusty layer that forms on pot and soil surfaces, and repotting plants into fresh soil periodically will reduce the problem.

Q. My miniature orange tree is loaded with small, slowmoving, waxy-looking, oval-shaped bugs. They are especially plentiful on the little fruits and at the intersections of twigs. What are they and what can I do about them? I'm afraid they're going to get into all my plants.

A. Your visitors sound like mealybugs. Several species may be pests of houseplants. Try washing the infested plant with soapy water (two teaspoons of a mild detergent per gallon of water) to remove the insects. Hand picking is another option.

Swabbing with cotton dipped in rubbing alcohol may also be successful. If all else fails, try a spray of malathion.

Q. Some sort of animal is chewing the bark off my fruit trees down near the ground. What can I do to protect them? Is there a spray that will work?

A. Surround the trunks with a cylinder of quarter-inch mesh hardware cloth that reaches from the ground to a foot or so above the top of the usual snow line. This should prevent mice, rabbits and other gnawing rodents from chewing on the bark. Chemical repellents sprayed or painted on the plants will also work for a while, but they must be reapplied regularly to remain effective.

Q. A couple of my houseplants have small blisters on the undersides of the leaves. The first leaves they developed these spots finally turned yellow and dropped off. I haven't changed the way I take care of the plants, so what's the problem? Is it a disease?

A. The symptoms are those of the most common winter disease of houseplants in Michigan: oedema. It is not a disease, however. It is a physiological disorder related to too little light and too much water. Leaves showing symptoms of oedema will not recover, but you can halt the progress of the "disease" by improving the light — either by moving the plants to a sunny window or placing them under artificial light — or by watering less often. Repotting to improve soil drainage may also be a good idea.

BPW makes plans for coming months

The Belleville Business & Professional Women's Club (BPW) met Monday, Feb. 5, at Faith United Methodist Church of Denton with the Michigan State Foundation Chairman, Marjorie Hiser of Ypsilanti, as guest speaker.

Midge Artley, president-elect, conducted the meeting in the absence of president Irene Christie who was hospitalized.

Local club members will hold a bingo evening at Sunnyview Convalescent Center at Ypsilanti on Friday, Feb. 16.

Several members plan to attend International Night at Windsor on Feb. 23, 24 and 25.

A nominating committee comprised of Faye Sotomayer, Ruth Davis and Margaret Saunders was elected.

Lincoln Park, Dearborn and Romulus Clubs will be hostesses for the Spring District Meeting to be held Wednesday, March 21.

The next regular BPW meeting will be held March 5 with the Young Careerist Committee: Leona Farr, chairman; Susan DeFoe, Marie Roberts and Midge Artley, in charge.

Guests are welcome. Dinner reservations may be made by calling membership chairman, Gwenth Ashe at 699-5030.

Here's what's new at Romulus Library

Two new arrivals at the Romulus Public Library hold the promise of interesting reading for fans of Arthur Hailey and another famous American, F. Lee Bailey, who has taken time out from his usual role as attorney to pen a fictional novel.

When F. Lee Bailey tries a case, the headlines and news stories are read by millions. But what everyone wants to know is what really goes on behind the scenes — the maneuvers, the trading, the secret deals.

"SECRETS" is a novel about the most dramatic legal crisis of all: What happens when a lawyer needs a lawyer? Particularly, what does Boston criminal attorney Michael Kilrayne do when he is indicted for the first-degree murder of Sarah Henson, a very attractive former client who preserved her most intimate moments on video tape?

Why will the ambitious and well-connected prosecutor go to any length — including false witnesses — to get Kilrayne convicted?

Why does the mob go to any lengths — including preventative murder — to keep unfriendly witnesses from the courtroom?

A top lawyer like Kilrayne knows that when everything is at stake, there is no such thing as a good loser. And so he reaches clear across the continent for San Francisco's most brilliant young lawyer, Daniel Show, who knows that at the heart of every courtroom trial lies ruthless investigation.

To head his defense team, Kilrayne reaches across the Atlantic because he knows that the barristers in England can outclass almost anyone in courtroom combat and Anthony Everard, Queen's counsel, is the best of the best. The third lawyer on the defense team is Stacy Barton whose special skill is skewering a so-called expert witness in front of the jury.

All of it comes together in one New England courthouse where prosecution and defense confront each other in the presence of the 12 jurors watching the passions and prejudices of the women and men who make the American legal system work.

Above all, "Secrets" creates the same kind of fibrillating excitement as F. Lee Bailey himself fighting a case of the century as the whole world watches.

"OVERLOAD" by Arthur Hailey is a tale of power and people — their lives, ambitions, deceits, consciences, greed, terror...

Angry critics of Golden State Power & Light accuse the giant public utility of being a heartless monster, piling up profits at the expense of its hapless customers — theusers of electricity and gas.

Electric power. Imagine the lack of it, not for short periods but far longer... Darkness! Deprivation! Chaos!

This dramatic, timely novel is the story of people and events leading to such a crisis. Although fiction, it is uncannily real, superbly exciting and it could happen... may happen... soon.

And for the younger set, in the junior department is a timely book dealing with baseball, complete with illustrations.

"BASEBALL FOR YOUNG CHAMPIONS" by Robert J. Antonacci discusses training rules, the tools of the ballplayer, advice on how to pitch, catch, hit, play infield and outfield. It gives a history of baseball and of keeping scores and records and, also, provides information on figuring batting averages.

Clos clan welcomes Karen Ann

A quartet of brothers and sisters was on hand to welcome Karen Ann Clos when she arrived home from the hospital with their parents, Lawrence and Mary Ann Clos of Treadwell Street, Westland.

Born Nov. 27 at Beyer Memorial Hospital in Ypsilanti, Karen weighed nine pounds - 14 ounces and measured 21½ inches.

Helping spoil the newest member of the clan are Michael, 11; Amy, seven; Sheryl, five, and Larry II, three.

Karen is the 33rd grandchild for George and Margaret Clos of Westland. She is also the granddaughter of Mrs. Eleanor Dickerson of Belleville and the late Martin Dickerson and the great-grandchild of Mrs. Margaret Dickerson of Belleville and the late Don Dickerson.

ADK holds quilting bee

Gamma Gamma Chapter of Alpha Delta Kappa (ADK), international honorary sorority for women educators, met for its February meeting at the home of Dorothy Arthur on High Street. Co-hostesses, Carrietta Preuninger and Judy Ensey, served strawberry crepes, jello, coffee and tea during the meeting.

The group spent the time working on a calico print patchwork quilt which will be used as a raffle prize at the Annual Belleville Strawberry Festival. Mona Salisbury stretched the material on a quilting frame and then gave expert instructions and stimulated a great deal of enthusiasm for the project.

CITY OF ROMULUS
NOTICE

LEGAL NOTICE TO FAMILIES WHO LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS OPERATED BY THE ROMULUS HOUSING COMMISSION OR LIVED IN PUBLIC HOUSING PROJECTS IN ANY OTHER CITY BETWEEN MARCH 16, 1971, - SEPTEMBER 26, 1975.

If you rented a house or apartment from the ROMULUS HOUSING COMMISSION or any other Public Housing Agency (PHA) during the period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, you may be eligible to file a claim for a refund of part of your rent during that period if:

1. The wife or husband of the head of the household was present and dependent upon the head of the household for support and/or;

2. a dependent member of your family household was employed.

If you believe your family falls within one of the categories described above, you may wish to continue reading this Notice in order to determine how and under what circumstances you may file a claim.

On July 7, 1978, the District Court of the District of Columbia entered a Stipulated Order providing that the definition of family income for purposes of computing maximum rentals for public housing, as contained in a HUD Circular, which excluded spouses from the $300 deduction for each dependent and excluded dependents from the $300 deduction for each secondary wage earner, was invalid and violated the United States Housing Act of 1937, as amended. The effect of this determination is that certain families who lived in public housing during the period from March 16, 1971, to September 26, 1975, may have been charged too much rent. Therefore, the District Court ordered HUD to establish a one million dollar fund for the payment of claims which current or former tenants of public housing may submit for a refund of any overpayments.

The District Court's Stipulated Order provides that, if valid claims exceed one million dollars, HUD has the option of having the Order dissolved in which case NTO and HUD may negotiate a modified settlement or proceed with further litigation. Thus, claimants should realize that the submittal of a claim determined valid by a PHA may result in full, partial, or no payment, depending on the total amount of valid claims submitted to HUD, or the final outcome of any further litigation. Any person wishing to receive a copy of the Stipulated Order or a claim form may do so by making their request known to a local PHA.

Individuals wishing to submit a claim must fill in the claim form made a part of this Notice and must submit it to the Public Housing Agency's address indicated on the claim form, or such other appropriate Public Housing Agency if different from the address indicated, within 120 days from Dec. 6, 1978. No claims will be accepted after the end of the 120 day period, April 6, 1979.

Information provided by the claimant on the claim form must be specific as to the time period between March 16, 1971, and September 26, 1975, for which the wife or husband of the head of the household was present and was a dependent and/or a dependent in the household was employed.

Publish every week until April 4.

LEGAL NOTICES

Sirs:

You are hereby notified that the Board of County Road Commissioners of the County of Wayne, Michigan, did, at a meeting of said Board held on February 1, 1979, decide and determine that the certain section of County road described in the minutes of said meeting of said Board should be absolutely abandoned and discontinued as a public highway, reserving therein the easement set forth in said determination.

The portion of the minutes of said meeting fully describing said section of County road is attached hereto and made a part of this notice, which is given under and by virtue of Act 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand at Detroit, Michigan, this 5th day of February, A.D. 1979.

Board of County Road Commissioners
Of the County of Wayne, MI

Chairman
Freddie G. Burton, Vice-Chairman
Michael Berry, Commissioner

Henry J. Galecki
Secretary and Clerk of the Board

RESOLUTION
Commissioner Burton moved the adoption of the following Resolution:

WHEREAS, pursuant to petition and in accordance with the provisions of Section 18, Chapter IV, Act No. 283 of the Public Acts of 1909, as amended, this Board, by Resolution dated June 29, 1978, set a date of hearing on said petition and directed a Hearing Examiner to hold said hearing; and WHEREAS, said hearing was held at the time and place appointed, and the Board has considered the Findings of Fact as reported by its Hearing Examiner concerning the advisability of absolutely abandoning and discontinuing;

That part of Oakview Blvd., 37.5 feet wide — as dedicated to the use of the public in "MCINTYRE MANOR" a subdivision of the W. 1/2 of the N.E. 1/4 Section 15, T. 2 S., R. 8 E., Canton Twp., Wayne Co., Michigan, as recorded in Liber 61 of Plats, on Page 68, Wayne County Records, which lies adjacent to lots 78 to 84, both inclusive, and were viewed in accordance with said statute.

WHEREAS, the premises

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that it is in the best interest of the public that the above-described county road or portion thereof be absolutely abandoned and discontinued and that said road or portion thereof is hereby absolutely abandoned and discontinued, reserving therein an easement for public utilities and sewer purposes.

The motion was supported by Commissioner Herron and carried by the following vote:

AYES: Commissioners Burton and Herron.

NOTICE
ABATEMENT PROJECT
PUBLIC HEARING

The Michigan Department of Transportation is calling a public hearing at 8:00 p.m. on Thursday, March 15, 1979 in the Romulus Municipal Building, Council Chambers, 11111 Wayne Road, Romulus, Michigan.

The purpose of this hearing is to provide the opportunity for a public discussion of the treatment under consideration for noise abatement on I-275 from M-153 (Ford Road) in Wayne County southerly to I-75 in Monroe County. At the present time the Department is proposing a noise wall on the west side of I-275 from the Palmer Road overpass northerly approximately 2,600 feet and a second noise wall, also on the west side of I-275, from the US-12 (Michigan Avenue) south bound entrance ramp southerly 3,000 feet.

The Department of Transportation is not proposing any additional noise abatement project on I-275 from M-153 southerly to I-75.

Brochures describing the proposed project are available at the Romulus Municipal Building or by calling the Department of Transportation, Planning Information, Toll Free 1-800-292-9576.

This hearing is held in accordance with the Michigan Action Plan and Federal Requirements. Testimony will be taken from interested citizens regarding the social, environmental, and economic impact of the proposed project. Written statements and exhibits in place of, or in addition to, oral statements made at the public hearing may be submitted to:

Jack E. Morgan,
Manager
Public Involvement
Section
Michigan Department of Transportation
P.O. Box 30050
Lansing, Michigan 48909

at any time up to fifteen days after the date of the public hearing.

To further assist you in understanding the project, representatives of the Michigan Department of Transportation will be present in the Romulus Municipal Building one hour prior to the public hearing to explain the project and answer specific questions.

SERVING SOUTHWESTERN WAYNE AND MONROE COUNTIES FOR EIGHTEEN YEARS

WHAT IS CHIROPRACTIC?

By CHARLES E. RIBLEY, D.C.

Chiropractic is the science of using the body's natural inclination to heal itself, to restore and continue good health when the blockage of vital nerves is ended. The chiropractor follows a simple natural law — that all impulses originate within the brain and are transmitted to the various parts of the body by way of the nervous system. When a nerve becomes pinched or otherwise blocked, the flow of vital nerve energy is stopped, just as a derailment blocks a railroad line.

The chiropractor has proven scientifically that chronic nerve interference is caused by displacement of bones in the spinal column, and that the location and correction of this misalignment can eliminate the trouble and allow the body to return to a state of good health.

Chiropractic is a study of the great wisdom that causes life — an interpretation and observation of life as it flows over the nervous system and makes the body function properly. As a new and all-inclusive science, chiropractic is the forerunner of great things to come because it has delved into an understanding of life and of creation, discovering a connecting link between life within the body and the physical world.

There is a close link between the mind and the body, as has been proven many times when those of great faith have been cured by the priest with the laying-on-of-hands. The chiropractor, too, in his way repairs the link between mind and body with a laying-on-of-hands, using skilled and strong fingers to adjust the spinal bones so that vital messages may flow freely from the brain to all parts of the body.

By CHARLES E. RIBLEY, D.C.

Many of you have been told that your trouble is "nerves, just nerves." Tension or pinching of spinal nerves robs your body of vital energy, thus causing the 11 danger signals to appear, which in time, if not corrected, are the underlying causes of disease. We at the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center work directly with the nerves, and we have had outstanding results with conditions listed above.

SUFFERING NEEDLESSLY?

Millions are turning to chiropractic because they are recognizing the scientific principles of nature that have made spinal adjustments effective for many conditions where other methods have failed.

The chart below shows the lateral view of the spinal column and indicates in section "A" names of the spinal nerves as they branch from the spinal cord and exit through openings between the vertebrae. All tissues, glands and organs supplied with life energy by these nerves are shown in the section marked "B" in the chart. The section marked "C" describes a partial list of the conditions and symptoms that can result when there is an absence of life in the nerves.

B Area Supplied by Nerves A Side View of Spine C Results of Nerve Impingement

Blood supply to the head, the pituitary gland, the scalp, bones of the face, the brain itself, inner and middle ear, the sympathetic nervous system

SPINAL NERVE INVOLVEMENT CAUSES MANY CONDITIONS

The spinal chart shown above is directed especially to those people who have tried to regain their health through methods other than chiropractic, and have failed. That failure should not lead to discouragement, but to greater determination to discover the fundamental cause of all disease.

Since the discovery of chiropractic, no one needs to feel that he or she is destined to be sick all their life. Remember, "Where there is life there is hope and he who has hope has everything."

Police Officer Improves With Chiropractic

When the doctor told me that I was having trouble with my arm because of arthritis, a fellow officer told me about chiropractic and the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center, P.C. I was having a lot of pain in my elbow and shoulder. Even lifting a glass of water was a problem. I was really skeptical about trying chiropractic, but had tried everything else including cortisone shots, so I made an appointment to see Dr. Ribley. Immediately I received some help, but after getting adjustments on a regular basis, I noticed tremendous improvement. In general, I felt much better also. Chiropractic has made a believer out of me.

William Morrow

Earache at 10:30
Adjustment at 10:45
Back in school at 12:00

I was in school last week when I got a terrible earache. They called my mom at 10:30 and told her to come and pick me up. She took me to Dr. Ribley, who adjusted me at 10:45. I rested for a short time and was back in school at 12:00 and feeling great. When mom took me back to school she explained that I'd had an earache because my neck was out, but that I'd gotten an adjustment and was feeling better. I don't know if everyone understood what she was saying. I'm just glad that she knew what she was talking about because I didn't even miss lunch at school and they were having pizza.

Not only does Chiropractic work — it works in a hurry and that's important to someone who has as much to do as I have. Kids don't have time to be sick.

Thanks, Dr. Ribley! Thanks, Mom!

THAT "TIRED, RUN-DOWN" FEELING

The pace of today's world, with its constant stresses and demands is producing a generation of "tired people".

Whether individuals are able to maintain the pace depends on the conditions of the nervous system.

Vital nerve energy, flowing from the brain through the spinal column, maintains the peak efficiency of the human machine.

That tired, run-down feeling can develop when anything happens to interfere with the flow of nerve energy to the organs, glands and muscles ... anything which interferes with the alignment of the spine or creates pressure on the nerves can interrupt the flow of vital nerve energy. The result ... fatigue.

The chiropractor locates the areas of nerve pressure. He makes skillful adjustments which realigns the spine, relieves tensions and pressures, and allows nature to restore the body to health.

With the nervous system properly tuned, the tired, run-down feeling disappears and pep, energy and ambition return.

Enjoy good and abundant health ... get a Chiropractic check-up today!

HEADACHES

Almost everyone of us suffers from a headache sooner or later. Many suffer regularly from this depressing symptom. The neck and upper portion of the spine can be considered one of the prime suspects in many cases of recurrent headaches. The Doctor of Chiropractic's experience has taught him that headaches that persist over long periods of time, occurring and disappearing only to occur again when least expected, are related to traceable causes. One such cause is abnormal positioning or an abnormal mobility of one or several vertebrae (spinal segments) in the upper neck.

Sometimes, unknown to the patient an accident, fall, or improper posture, even an incorrect position while sleeping will force the vertebrae of the upper neck into an abnormal position beyond its normal range of movement. Usually no symptoms appear immediately, but undue stress on muscles, ligaments and nerves will most often result in pain and tenderness at the base of the skull. This initial pain sometimes spreads from the base of the skull through the nerves of the scalp to the temples and behind the eyes, causing the common, but most unpleasant symptoms of the recurrent headache.

Headache pain is sometimes accompanied by muscle spasm through the neck and shoulders, especially in the back of the neck. Sometimes the pain is so persistent and intense it causes nausea, and is improperly diagnosed as a tension headache or the feared migraine headache. Because many people believe all headaches are caused from nervous tension and stress, and other psychological conflict, years of suffering is endured when a visit to the Doctor of Chiropractic would alleviate the symptoms.

Experience of the Doctor of Chiropractic has shown that many if not most headaches are caused by abnormal alignment and mobility of one or more of the vertebrae of the neck and upper back. Treatment has often proven effective in giving the patient relief from the pain and discomfort of the recurrent headache. Talk to your Chiropractor for a correct diagnosis.

The Doctor of Chiropractic is trained to offer specialized care in the effective treatment of recurrent headaches.

"They Only Treated My Symptoms Until I Tried Chiropractic Now The Cause Of My Pain Is Gone!"

The doctors only treated my symptoms until I became a patient of Dr. Ribley's. After only a few chiropractic adjustments, my severe back pain and its cause were gone!

A friend first told me about chiropractic. I was suffering with severe back pain, it even hurt me to breathe. I couldn't work because I was miserable sitting, standing and walking. So I decided to take my friend's advice and try chiropractic. I noticed a great improvement the morning following my first adjustment at the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center. My symptoms disappeared; I was more relaxed; but best of all the cause of my problem was eliminated.

Another Patient's Testimonial Led Me To Health

I became a patient of Dr. Ribley's after reading a testimonial in the newspaper of someone who had the same kind of problems I had.

I was suffering with severe neck, head and back pain after being in an automobile accident. I also had arthritis. I was unable to follow any kind of normal routine. I was unable to lift or bend which made it almost impossible to do any housework.

After becoming a patient at the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center, P.C., I noticed that all of my symptoms improved by my fifth adjustment. I was not as stiff. I had less pain and I was able to move around with much more ease.

I hope that my testimonial leads other people to Dr. Ribley so that he can help them like he has helped me.

Severe Headaches

Back Injury in Gym

I first came to Dr. Ribley when I was 13 years old. I had been getting severe headaches for the past few years at least once a week. After the first adjustment from Dr. Ribley, I felt alot better. After three adjustments, I didn't have anyone headaches.

When I was 17 years old, I was playing on the trampoline in gym class. I flipped into the air and missed the mat and fell on the gym floor. My back hurt so bad at first I couldn't even get up. Somebody had to help me up. The lower part of my back felt as if something had snapped. I could hardly walk and when I sat down it felt like somebody had stuck a knife in me. I thought if I got up it would feel better, instead I couldn't straighten up. After the fall my headaches returned, but worse this time. I went to see Dr. Ribley right away and soon he had me feeling "Fit as a Fiddle" and in "Tip Top Shape."

Today I am 20 years old and know it is "Chiropractic for Life" for me to keep in good shape.

Robert P. Edmonds,

I Fought Drug Treatment For Diabetes and Won!

During a regular physical examination and check-up, the doctor discovered that I had a sugar count of 400. My pancreas had ceased to function properly and I had become diabetic. I realized how serious my condition was when the doctor insisted that I be hospitalized immediately for measured insulin treatment. I asked the doctor if I had any other alternatives because I believe in the natural healing of the body and am opposed to drug treatment. He said that without insulin I could go blind and would die prematurely. I was concerned about the severity of my problem but explained that I would have to get another opinion before beginning such drastic treatment. The doctor said again that I would have serious problems as long as I refused the insulin.

I went to see Dr. Ribley who had treated me successfully, after I had suffered injuries as a result of a 55 mile per hour rear end collision, using only gentle spinal adjustments. He treated me for whip lash and a lower back injury without drugs or hospitalization and I had gotten excellent results. I therefore respected his opinion and also his ability. I told him about the diabetes and he agreed that the condition was serious but said that with regular spinal adjustments, exercise and adherence to a diet that he would give me, I would not have to be hospitalized or on drugs.

Once again I chose the Chiropractic method of treatment, got regular adjustments and followed Dr. Ribley's orders completely. Within one month my sugar count dropped down to 84, I didn't die and I didn't go blind without insulin. I began to feel terrific. Not only was the diabetes under control but I was no longer tense and had stopped having periodic headaches. I felt like a new man—completely alive and excited about living.

I chose to avoid drug therapy in favor of Chiropractic care and I KNOW for a fact that that was one of the wisest moves I ever made. I fought drug treatment for diabetes and I won!

I would recommend Chiropractic to everyone.

No More Symptoms Of Glaucoma

Because my father had gotten excellent results as a patient at the Ribley Chiropractic Life Center, I decided to try it even though our problems were quite different.

I had been suffering with glaucoma for almost a year. There was tremendous pressure behind my eyes. At times my vision would blur and all of my normal activities would be limited.

After one month as a patient of Dr. Ribley's, I noticed less and less pressure behind my eyes. All of my symptoms seemed to be disappearing. I went to my eye doctor and he confirmed the fact that the pressure was gone. After all those months of suffering, all it took was a month of painless chiropractic adjustments. As an added bonus, my general health improved. I didn't feel as stiff as before and I know my circulation is better. I look forward to a long future with chiropractic.

5 pork chops, 2 tablespoons shortening, 1 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon chili powder, Dash pepper, 3/4 cup long-grain rice, 1/2 cup chopped onion, 1/4 cup chopped green pepper, 1 28-ounce can tomatoes, cut up, 5 green pepper rings, 1/2 cup (2 ounces) shredded sharp process American cheese.

Trim excess fat from chops. Slowly brown chops in hot shortening about 15 to 20 minutes. Drain off excess fat. Combine salt, chili powder, and pepper; sprinkle over chops. Add rice, onion, and chopped green pepper. Pour tomatoes over all. Cover and cook over low heat for 35 minutes, stirring occasionally. Add green pepper rings and cook 5 minutes longer or till rice and meat are tender. Sprinkle with cheese. Makes 5 servings.
